WILMINGTON - As Elgar's Pomp and Circumstance was played by the High School Band, about 250 students filed into the new Wilmington High School gymnasium on a beautiful Sunday afternoon to receive their diplomas.

Class President Siobhan Collins led the Pledge of Allegiance, and the Star Spangled Banner was played by the Wilmington High School Band.

Collins began her Student Farewell speech with a quote from Shakespeare's Hamlet, "We know what we are, but know not what we may be," and spoke of her fellow students as having, "talent, drive, compassion and intelligence," concluding, "I'm sure great things will come to you all."

School Committee Chair Peggy Kane was next to speak, "To all of you touched by the graduating class of 2015, congratulations on being the first to graduate from our new high school."

"Take a moment to think about the meaning of this day to

EPA CLEARS SITE FOR COMMERCIAL USE, PAVING WAY FOR RAIL-TO-TRUCK TRANSLOADING OPERATION

Olin letter less than comforting to residents

By LISA KENNEDY-COX

WILMINGTON - Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Remedial Project Manager James Dilorenzo came before the Board of Selectmen meeting on Monday night to discuss and answer questions around the so-called Comfort Letter written by the EPA to Robert Jones Managing Principal of New England Transrail, LLC (NET). EPA cleared the Olin site for commercial use, but town officials remain skeptical since the groundwater phase of remediation is not complete.

According to Dilorenzo, most of the soil and surface water site investigation has been completed, however groundwater testing has yet to be fully implemented. Dilorenzo told the

A groundwater risk assessment is also planned. Other activities include monitoring about 20 private wells around town close to the site area. Since the fall of 2009, officials have concluded that conditions are "largely stable."

The concern is slurry wall contamination, and the EPA is looking at the integrity of the wall itself to make ensure contamination is not leaking out.

Last year Olin conducted a pilot study at Jewel Drive with the construction of a pilot extraction well. Over the period of about one year, the extraction well successfully removed 1.5 million gallons of DapL material, the worst ground water issue.

SAFETY COMMITTEE REFLECTS ON YEAR

Improving school safety no easy job

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent
Brendan@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON- At a recent school committee meeting, the safety committee briefed the committee members and the town on the steps that have been undertaken in the past year to expand the committee and keep the emergency training and planning within the school system as up to date possible.

Co-chairs of the safety committee Paul Ruggiero and Jeffery Strasnick represented the safety committee, but its ranks have expanded this year to encompass a representative from every building in the school system, including the Roman House.

"I want to personally thank Jeff and Paul for stepping up to take the leadership role for the district safety committee this year," Superintendent Mary DeLai said. "They have done a fantastic job."

By bringing in representation from every building and using those representatives as liaisons, DeLai believes the committee can do a much better job communicating the latest information.

As part of the presentation, Ruggiero and Strasnick pointed out a few key problems with the district safety plan going into this year. The safety teams were determined on a per building basis, and did not have much consistency. Similarly, the district safety plan did not have a consistent review process and implementation plan.

The current safety committee has refreshed these aspects, with district and school safety teams meeting monthly to review whatever hazards and threats might be cropping up. The committee is also working to develop a draft for an overall district safety plan.

"This coming year we will be looking to create a district

Family STEM Night wows

WILMINGTON - It has become a night that the students and parents of Wilmington anticipate for the entire school year, and last Thursday night, the wait was finally over, as Wilmington Public Schools held its Fourth Annual Family STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) Night at the Wilmington Middle School cafeteria.

As it has been every year of this event, the evening was a tremendous success, with an estimated 250-300 families taking part in the numerous activities offered to students and families from Kindergarten through eighth grade.

The event, funded by the Wilmington Educational Foundation (WEF) through a grant written by Wilmington Public Schools Elementary Math Coordinator LisaMarie Ippolito, offered attendees the opportunity to participate in activities and experiments in Earth, Physical and Life Science, including exhibits by returning presenters Analog Devices, Pfizer and iRobot, along with first time attendee Everfi, who presented and NHL Math program for students. The STEM Fair had the distinct honor of being part of Everfi's inaugural rollout of this program.

The evening also had a decidedly local flavor to it, as once again Wilmington's own 4H Science Pirates took part in the festivities, as did the Wilmington Memorial Library.

The STEM Committee was also pleased to welcome Mr. Kitchin and his electricity station, as well as Wilmington's own Bill Crocker, who represented Analog Devices. The evening also featured many activities created by the STEM committee reflecting the science standards followed by Wilmington Public Schools.

Ippolito, the co-chair of the STEM Committee along with Assistant Superintendent of Schools Kate Burnham, notes that the participation of so many vendors and volunteers, many of whom were back for their fourth year of participation, has been vital to the success the Family STEM Night.

"I am always so pleased by the commitment each year from our vendors and our community volunteers along with the sponsorship from WEF which makes this event possible," Ippolito said. "We have been so fortunate to see this event grow bigger and better each year, and it is a direct result of this commitment as well as the grant funding from the Wilmington Educational Foundation."

Students were able to put their imagination to the test by participating in several different fun activities, depending on their grade level. Students in Grades K-2 focused on various life and physical sciences, utilizing a fishing theme, with magnetic fishing poles. The exercise helped teach students weights and balances, while also teaching them different parts of a fish.

Grades 3-5 learned about Newton's Law in a carnival like atmosphere, while Grades 6-8 experimented with sound waves at a hot and cold station.

It was a night that no one who attended will soon forget. Along with the funding by the Wilmington Education Foundation, the night was also made possible by the efforts of numerous volunteers, including many Wilmington Public School Teachers, as well as several students from Wilmington High School, who volunteered their time and expertise on a school night share to help encourage learning in younger students. The high school volunteers are members of Wildcat Community Project, which is led by Diane Garrity.

Hosting an event like Family STEM Night takes many hours of preparation, but according to Ippolito, it is well worth the long hours to see the incredible results.

"The Family STEM Night allows our students to explore, create and invent while having fun. It is a lot of hard work for our committee, but seeing the end result every year is worth it," Ippolito said. "I want to thank our committee members Muriel Gravalesse, Joanne Vultaggio, Paul Monaco and Traci Jansen along with my co-chair Kate Burnham for all their hard work."

Lynnfield Lateral still on the table

By LISA KENNEDY-COX
News Correspondent
Lisa@YourTownCrier.com

WILMINGTON - While Kinder Morgan has made some adjustments to its proposed pipeline project, the plan for the northeastern part of Massachusetts hasn't changed much, if at all.

The Texas-based company is one of many energy companies vying for approval by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) to extend pipeline, in their case, starting along the New York border, northwest to Northfield and then into Southern New Hampshire. From there, the plan is to include 37 miles of additional lateral pipelines feeding off the main line, otherwise known as the Lynnfield Lateral.

The project has met with opposition from Dracut through the northeast to Lynnfield where the lateral is proposed to begin and end. The details are hazy, however, as there has been speculation that the lateral could potentially run past Lynnfield through to Danvers and as far as Beverly, MA.

According to an email sent by Director of the N. Reading/Wilmington Pipeline Awareness Group Frank Gullotto, the Boston Globe reported that Kinder Morgan has eliminated their planned North Worcester Lateral line, ostensibly because there are not enough potential customers in the area to justify building in Worcester.

Lack of customer need is not the only challenge facing Kinder Morgan in their quest for approval. The proposed project has been bombarded with opposition from residents, conservationists and legislators in the northeastern part of the state.

Representative Jim Miceli strongly opposes the pipeline and remains "adamantly against the Kinder Morgan pipeline project" according to a January 23rd press release. In the release, Miceli states that "he will not compromise with Kinder Morgan on having the pipeline cut through any part of Tewksbury and Wilmington." The press release further added, "The Representative has made it clear that his goal is to ensure that no burden is placed upon the towns of Wilmington and Tewksbury and their residents."

Back in February, local legislators signed letters from the office of Senator Barbara L'Italien requesting that Kinder Morgan consider changing the date of an Open House scheduled for the 17th as it conflicted with school vacation week. The letter expressed concerns that many constituents would be unable to attend the Open House as a result of conflicts associated with the February vacation period, citing that "none of the dates and locations are convenient to our constituencies and will deprive them of this valuable opportunity to interact with company representatives about the proposed pipeline."

Typically the facilitation of an Open House is largely to provide information to residents, but the Awareness Committee does not agree. "Going to an Open House is not going to stop the pipeline," said Cathy Kristofferson a spokesperson for the group Stop the Pipeline (www.stopped.org).

Kinder Morgan did not accommodate the request and kept the February 17th date. Gullotto told the assembly that FERC is the place residents should be going to express their concerns. Resident Laurie Gullotto agreed saying "We need to say 'no, we don't need it.'"

The proposed route of the natural gas pipeline is in close proximity to residents along Salem Street/Route 62 and residents in the neighborhoods around Charlotte Road, Draper Drive and Lucaya Circle. In addition, Wilmington's Harnden Tavern is located less than 900 feet from the proposed lateral as well as identified vernal pools.

While it is clear that only the northern part of Wilmington will be adversely affected, the importance of awareness for all communities and neighborhoods has been stressed and petitions have been ongoing to stop the pipeline.

Residents who were able to attend the Open House voiced their concerns, the major concern being the potential for the pipeline to disturb two of Wilmington's primary drinking water well fields.

The outcome at that point was that Kinder Morgan's subsidiary Tennessee Gas Pipeline (TGP) issued a letter to Town Engineer Paul Alunni revising the route. In addition to the letter, TGP representatives acknowledged awareness that the revised pipeline route would traverse a parcel owned and operated by Benevento, an aggregate based material supply company and quarry.

Town representatives had raised concerns regarding the proximity of the revised route to blasting operations at the quarry. TGP indicated that the pipeline would be designed to "co-exist with the expected operations at the site." The Town responded with a request that TGP provide the Town with case studies of similar applications.

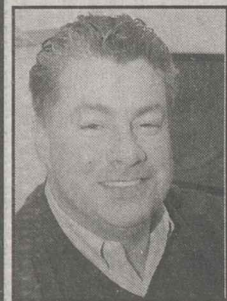

In an email regarding the proposed changes, Gullotto informed residents that, "It's important to note that all documents including pipeline route changes are basically drafts at this point and can change at any time. So while Kinder Morgan may be looking at utility corridors today, they could quickly change course at any time."

REVERSE MORTGAGE TO BUY A HOME?

Many people are familiar with reverse mortgages that let seniors remain in their homes, while the mortgage pays the family until they sell the house or die. (Ideally, both spouses are named on the mortgage so no one gets kicked out when the first one dies.) Now there is a new gimmick available.

It's called a home equity conversion mortgage and it lets you buy a new home without considering mortgage payments. It must be a primary residence. If you have cash to pay about half of the down payment, the lender's origination fee, mortgage insurance premium and the closing costs, the reverse mortgage will cover the rest. The buyers don't have to sell the old house right away, or they can rent it out for income. One handy way to come up with the down payment is to take funds from an IRA; if the old home sells and closes within 60 days, the rollover can be repaid and no taxes are due.

The maximum payout depends on the value of the new home, the ages of the two spouses, and the current interest rate. The older the couple and the lower the interest rate, the more they can get. If they take the top payout as a lump sum, they'll pay a fixed rate of interest; take part as a line of credit, and the interest rate is lower.

Is this kind of reverse mortgage right for you? Let's look over the figures together at:

OPINION

School health issues
subject for debate -

Lessons not always learned

by Paul J. Andrews

This column will focus on three issues: the first being the current legislative issues around school health programs, some comments about another special hero for us all to remember and some comments on lessons not often learned.

School health issues

The position of the school nurse in our schools has become increasingly important, as indicated in the recent discussions of the Joint Committee on Education at the State House in recent days. Already mired in current responsibilities, several pieces of legislation would add to the work load of school nurses and in fact add time for these nurses to be on duty. The position has always been complicated for a number of reasons and worse today with the changes in society.

The senators and representatives heard legislative proposals for school nurses to be present in after school hours when sports programs are going on in the school or fields. Bills were also heard to add numerous other duties including giving added medications to students more than currently done by the school nurses not to mention the amount of time spent doing this today.

Anyone who knows what is happening in our schools realizes that our school nurses often become the person sought out by staff and students for wise medical advice. Students often see the school nurse as someone they can easily talk to concerning issues with their health or just about anything else for that matter.

As the issues of drug use have intensified in our society in general, the school nurse often becomes the individual that student consults in times of crisis for a student.

On the classroom instructional side, bills were also filed to have teachers add to the current health instruction other components besides what is already being mandated in Chapter 71, Section 1 of the General Laws. One of the latest bills is for teachers to instruct students in terms of skin protection with the use of sun screens, etc.

While all of these suggestions seem well intentioned to say the least, how can all of these issues fit into the school day along with following the curriculum frameworks and preparing for on-coming national or state tests? While legislators just listened or asked for clarification, some of these proposed bills potentially can become law.

Programs not learned

Knowing many readers have been at graduations this past week in our Town Crier area, I am sure you heard many comments from student leaders during the ceremonies. One of those stuck with me and that was a student commenting, "many of us are leaving schools with so many great memories but still lack knowledge in how to pay bills correctly, take out loans or file a tax return." The comment was not meant to be critical of any school or of the education process but part of a reflection of how much more they had to learn in the lives ahead of them.

I found myself in so much agreement with the student leader as there is so much to life after one leaves high school, whether one directly enters employment or goes to college. I have often wondered if some of these practical skills should be part of high school teaching but then I am back to the fact that there is not enough time to cover all of these needs. Then again, I feel that parents need to pick up this component of instruction if at all possible so that some of this confusion is eliminated for graduating students.

Just a note

My thanks for your comments on last week's column and feel free to e-mail me at andrews@massupt.org

5K Fun Run success

Dear Editor:
On May 25, 2015 at 8:00 a.m. in the morning at Tewksbury Country Club we organized our 2nd annual 5K Fun Run. All of the proceeds (100%) are being disbursed to 2 charities this year. The 9/11 Memorial Committee and Strongwater Farm. The end result was we raised over $33,000 in support of both of these charities. On behalf of Mr.

Marc Ginsburg, the Staff at Tewksbury Country Club and myself I would like to extend our sincerest thanks to all of our sponsors and the 275 runners and walkers who helped make this an outstanding event for the 2nd year.

Sincerely yours,

Food for Thought

by Bob Leo

In praise of the humble prawn

I'll be the first to tell you that I am truly blessed with a loving, close knit, generous family, but boy what a collection of mixed nuts (myself included). Now, as is the Italian tradition, my mother cooks Sunday dinner for at least 21 of us and sometimes more if the boyfriends and girlfriends show up. Trust me folks this is no easy undertaking. I'm talking a minimum of five or six courses.

Generally we sit down around 3 and finish up around 7, and if it's a holiday double that. We're an adventurous bunch too. Periwinkles, turtles, rabbits, octopus, suckling pig, squid ink, chicken livers, dandelion greens, geese, everything is fair game. If your body can digest it there is an Italian woman out there somewhere with a recipe for it.

And when my father's mother was alive, forget about it. Not only did we eat some weird stuff but we grew just about everything you could grow around here as well. Her yard consisted of a small driveway (she never had a car), lined with flowers, mostly roses and of course the upright bathtub with the Blessed Mother in it. That was separated by a white picket fence, then came (and this no word of a lie) 2 pear trees, an apple tree, a plum tree, a peach tree, a white and red grape vine, a strawberry patch, a hot box made from an old window pane door filled with herbs, carrots, peppers, lettuce, squash, corn, pole beans, eggplants, zucchini... you get the point.

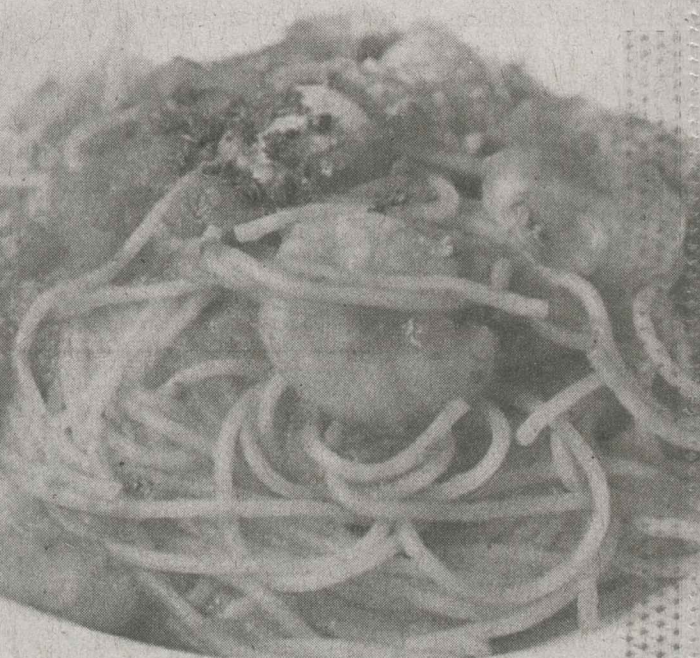

We had a small chicken coop, and when a hen couldn't produce eggs, well let's just say you couldn't make a fresher chicken soup. She never bought hamburger either, she bought chuck steak and ground it with a little hand grinder that clamped onto the table. She also bought pork butts and hog casings and made her own sausage.

We had one rule in my family (well actually we had more rules than you could shake a stick at, not that we listened to many of them, however, this one we did), if you didn't like something, you didn't have to eat it, but you could only take that option if YOU TRIED IT FIRST. We tried a lot of stuff.

A couple years back all 21 of us took a family bus trip together, TO ITALY. We rented our own Greyhound style coach, hired a driver, started in Venice and worked our way around the horn ending up on the Amalfi coast. Now we all loved the sights and the history and the beaches, but the food, Mama mia. Fresh anchovies caught 20 yards from our table, wild boar roasted in the hills of Tuscany, 150 year old balsamic vinegar, black as coal and sweeter than honey in Modena, it's hard to put the favorite tag on any one meal but the dishes that tasted like Noni's well, those were all my favorites.

One night sitting seaside in Sorrento I had a pasta dish that took me all the way back to Lynn, Massachusetts. If I closed my eyes and listened to my mouth I would have sworn I was sitting at my grandmothers table. This dish was simple, classic and mouthwatering and in a moment I'm going to share the recipe with you, but before I do just a little pre-cursor. Food should be your own, recipes are best when a helping of chef's discretion is added. I encourage all cooks professional or otherwise to find your flavor and make the dish your own. Ok now I'm going to give you a good place to start.

In a sauce pan over medium heat add a good shot of olive oil and a few fresh basil leaves. If you use the dry stuff add a little extra. Next pour in two cans of San Marzano tomatoes crushed (use your hands if they are whole). Add a pinch of salt and a pinch of red pepper flakes and let simmer. Now take a good size skillet and add another shot of olive oil, sliver 3 or 4 cloves of garlic and keep them off to the side. In Sorrento I had fresh prawns, which are very similar to Maine prawns, but any type of shrimp will do. Add the shrimp (as much as you like) to the skillet and throw in the garlic. If you like the shell on leave it on, it's great for flavor, if you prefer your shrimp clean, ok, clean them first. Throw in the garlic, salt and pepper to taste, and cook until lightly pink. Ladle in the tomato sauce and reduce the heat to low. Cover the skillet, an inverted plate works well if you don't have a big cover and start boiling some water for your linguine. Cook your favorite linguine, al dente please, strain and toss with a ladle of sauce. Top with your shrimp, a little red pepper and some grated parmesan. Bellissimo! This is about as easy as it gets and the dish works awesome with lobster or crab as well. As an added bonus it is unbelievably delicious. Now in the infamous words of my mother, "stop your yapping and sit down and eat before it gets cold."

Wilmington Methodist Church announces Crossflame Tour

On Sunday, June 21, at its 9:30 am service, Wilmington United Methodist Church will host a worship concert by the 60+ members of the Crossflame Youth Choir and Orchestra of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Hickory, North Carolina.

The concert includes music and drama exploring the choir's tour theme of "Listening for the Heartbeat of God..." Musical styles range from Grieg to Gospel, but each selection is carefully chosen to explore this year's tour theme.

The Crossflame Youth

Choir and Orchestra is one of the oldest continuous church youth choirs in the United States. The choir began in 1994, and has toured each summer since its inception. They performed in Canada in 2011, and in 2010 on stage as part of a Grand Ol' Opry Program in Nashville, Tennessee for the second time since 2000. They shared the stage with legendary performers Roy Clark, George Hamilton IV, Vestal Goodman, Ronni Stoneman and many others.

In 2006, the choir sang at the opening worship service for the annual conference of Methodist Churches in the UK, at the Nicholson Square Methodist Church in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Each year's concert tour also includes concerts in nursing homes, children's hospitals, Salvation Army homeless shelters and other venues.

Admission is free, and the community is encouraged to attend.

Wilmington United Methodist Church is located at 87 Church St., Wilmington

Free Tdap Vaccine Clinic on June 17th in Tewksbury

There will be a free Tdap (Tetanus Diphtheria and Pertussis) Vaccine clinic on June 17th, 2015 from 2:00 PM - 4:00 PM in the Nurse's office at the Senior Center, 175 Chandler Street, Tewksbury, MA.

Appointments can also be made, by calling 978-640-4473, on Wednesdays or Fridays. Last date available is Friday, June 19th, 2015

Tdap vaccine can protect adolescents and adults from tetanus, diphtheria, and pertussis. One dose of Tdap is routinely given at age 11 or 12. People who did not get Tdap at that age should get it as soon as possible. Under 18 needs adult permission.

Tdap is especially important for healthcare professionals and anyone having close contact with a baby younger than 12 months.

Pregnant women should get a dose of Tdap during every pregnancy, to protect the newborn from pertussis. See your obstetrician for care during pregnancy.

Infants are most at risk for severe, life-threatening complications from pertussis.

Another vaccine, called Td, protects against tetanus and diphtheria, but not pertussis. A Td booster should be given every ten years. Tdap may be given as one of these boosters if you have never gotten Tdap before. Tdap may also be given after a severe cut or burn to prevent tetanus infection.

Grace Chapel's Spring Serve Day Gives Back to the Community

WILMINGTON - On Saturday May 9, volunteers from Wilmington, Reading and the surrounding area spread out into the local communities offering assistance as part of Grace Chapel's annual Spring Serve.

Two hundred members of Grace Chapel in Wilmington joined partners from Wilmington's Abundant Life Church, United Methodist Church, St. Thomas and St. Dorothy's to help residents and various organizations in the vicinity. Many projects consisted of yardwork, but teams also performed cleaning, painting, note writing, carpentry, and other services. Beneficiaries included residents who needed an extra hand, the Salvation Army store, Elder Services, non-profit organizations, housing facilities, the Woburn Historical Commission, and more.

This year's Spring Serve event involved all four of the Grace Chapel campuses (Watertown, Wilmington, East Lexington, and Lexington). Across all campuses, 920 volunteers completed projects in twenty different communities. Grace Chapel has a long history of community and global outreach with partners in the U.S., Central and South America, Europe, Russia, Central Asia, the Middle East/North Africa, Sub-Saharan Africa, South Asia, and East Asia.

Wilmington's head pastor Tom Van Antwerp reflects, "The annual Spring Serve event is a special time for Grace Chapel to stay grounded within the community. We embrace the hope that spring brings and demonstrate one of our underlying principals, which is to love your neighbor as yourself."

One beneficiary of a yard cleanup was a 101-year-old resident. Another team from Wilmington traveled to Lynn, MA to clean the House of Hope Center, a non-profit facility for troubled teens, and gang members. According to House of Hope director, Claire Sullivan, "the Grace crew came in ready to clean. Then a former junkie/prostitute, three former gang members and inmates joined the group. They connected like family and started pouring out their pain and gratitude. As class, race, age, gender, ethnicity, and language melted together, Grace Chapel demonstrated the heart and vision of love. I didn't want the day to end."

For more information about Grace Chapel, please visit grace.org.

NF Northeast -

Ryan named Chair of Board of Directors

BURLINGTON - Neurofibromatosis Northeast, a Burlington-based non-profit patient advocacy organization supporting those individuals battling the genetic disorder, neurofibromatosis (NF), has announced Lori Ryan, RN, MS, as its new Chair of the Board of Directors.

Ryan, a resident of Wilmington has been on the board of NF Northeast for over 6 years and was most recently Secretary of the organization. She was unanimously elected Chair at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors.

Ryan has helped raise awareness about NF both locally and nationally as well as raise much needed funds for research. She has served as Chair of the Medical and Scientific Committee and is a member of the Strategic Planning Committee. She founded the Annual Steps2Cure NF run/walk and created and oversees the NF Scholarship Program. The scholarships are awarded to assist persons with NF to continue their education after high school.

Ryan advocates annually on Capitol Hill for NF research funding through the Department of Defense's Congressionally-directed Medical Research Program and has served on this program's peer review panels to review NF research proposals. She has attended numerous NF-related conferences and meetings to help facilitate NF research and help ensure the NF community is well represented. She also volunteers and participates in various NF Northeast fundraising events.

With a Bachelor's of Science degree in Nursing and a graduate degree from Northeastern Bouve College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, Ryan has worked in the clinical research field for over twenty years. Because of her clinical research background, she has a realistic view and appreciation for the drug development process and the challenges involved when helping the organization facilitate and support research for effective and safe treatments for NF.

Karen Peluso, NF Northeast's Executive Director, said: "We are absolutely thrilled to have Lori Ryan as our new Board Chair. Lori is a dedicated and devoted supporter of NF Northeast and bring years of experience that is perfectly aligned to where we are headed as an organization. NF Northeast is poised for significant growth and Lori is exactly what we need at the moment to help drive the change that is taking place. It is a very exciting time and to have Lori as Chair is just ideal."

About Neurofibromatosis Northeast:

Neurofibromatosis Northeast is based in Burlington. Their mission is to find a cure and treatment for neurofibromatosis by promoting scientific research, creating awareness, and providing hope and support to those who are affected by NF.

To learn more about neurofibromatosis, visit the NF Northeast website at www.nfine.org or call 781-272-9936.

"Bill Rockwell, who runs Burlington Self-Storage was kind enough to let us use the property and storage facility at 114 West St. in Wilmington to have this important fund raising event" Marge Heck told the Town Crier Saturday June 6th. The sale started at 8 am, hundreds of people stopped to rummage around the parking lot looking at everything from framed art work to home lighting, clothes for kids and adults, plus anything you would need for your kitchen. Tables stretched for hundreds of feet manned by volunteers to help all the customers. Marge went on to tell the Crier a brief story about her daughter-in-law Nicole Heck. "I am riding in this year's Pan-Mass Challenge in honor of my daughter-in-law Nicole who passed away in December 2014 from triple Negative Breast Cancer." All proceeds from the yard sale went directly to Dana Farber for cancer research. The Pan-Mass Challenge has supported cancer research since 1980. OBITUARY

George A. Paquette Of Chelmsford, Tewksbury

TEWKSBURY - George A. Paquette, 69, passed away Friday morning, June 5, 2015, after a year-long battle with bladder cancer. He was born on September 5, 1945, son of the late Theodore and Marie (Berube) Paquette.

He was member of the Chelmsford High School class of 1964 and recently attended his 50th reunion where he enjoyed seeing his former classmates and friends. It was at CHS where he met and married his childhood sweetheart, Patricia Slater. Together they moved to Tewksbury to raise a family and start the Paquette Plumbing & Heating Co. They would have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 10, 2015.

George was an avid outdoorsman who enjoyed hunting, boating, fishing and clam digging. He also enjoyed "playing in the dirt". He had a green thumb and loved to garden. His dream was to build a log house in Vermont, which he did by hand, log by log. This provided ed many years of happy memories for family and friends. He will always be remembered as a hard-working, strong and courageous man. He will be deeply missed.

Besides his wife Patricia, he leaves a son Erik of Portsmouth, NH, a daughter Kimberly Servino and husband Richard of North Andover; four grandchildren, Samantha & Elliott Paquette from Maine and Olivia & Will Servino from North Andover. Also, a sister Jeannette McNamara and husband Robert of Dracut; mother-in-law Muriel Slater of Chelmsford; brother-in-law Robert Slater and spouse Wendy of CT; sister-in-law Cyndi Slater and partner Steven Burns of Amesbury and many nieces & nephews, wonderful friends, neighbors, extended Florida family and his morning coffee buddies at Richdale, who have been there throughout this difficult year. He was predeceased by his sister Irene, 3 brothers, Emile, Albert & Robert and his father-in-law Raymond Slater.

Relatives and friends are invited to George's memorial life celebration on Monday, June 8, from 4:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Tewksbury Funeral Home, corner of 1 Dewey and 975 Main Sts. (Rte. 38) Tewksbury Center Ph. (800 in MA or 98) 851-2950. Funeral services will be held at the funeral home on Tuesday, June 9, from at 11:00 a.m. In lieu of flowers, donations in honor of George made be made to the National Fish & Wildlife Federation at 1133 Fifteenth Street, Suite 1100, Washington, DC 20005.

Final Countdown for Relay for Life

The final count down of the last days before the June 19th Relay For Life of Wilmington has begun. This is the seventh year for the town's popular family fun event, and some new things have been added. So far, this event has raised well over $852,000 to support the American Cancer Society's fight against cancer.

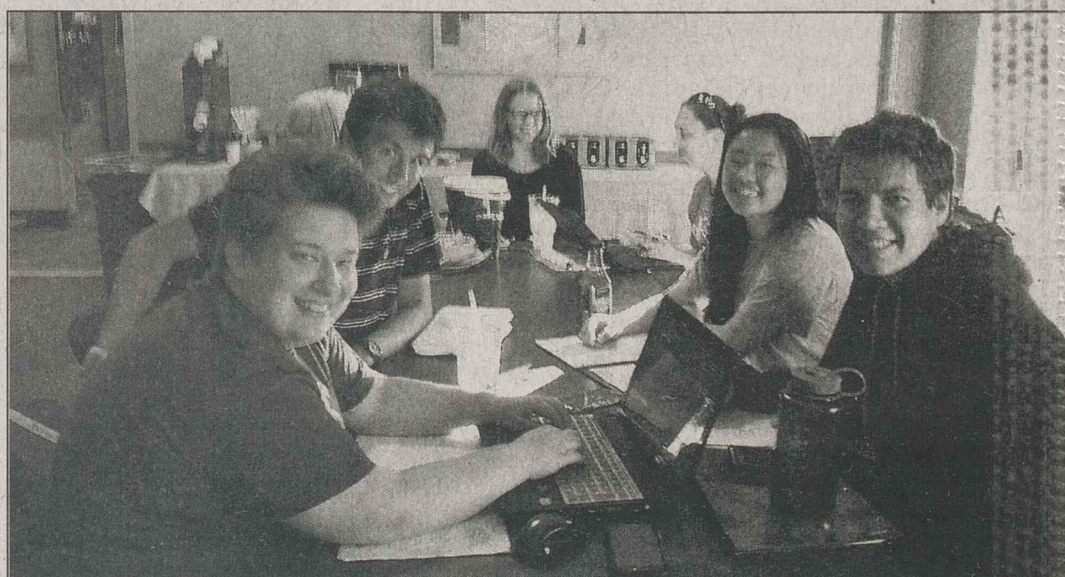

An expanded list of activities for children includes the new Snowie Bus by Busy Bee Jumpers of Whitman, MA. This well-known food truck really appeals to all ages. People purchase a snow cone and then add and mix their own flavors. Everything from Wild Cherry and Watermelon to Cotton Candy and Peach are available.

This year's list of speakers includes Ms Mary DeLai, Wilmington Superintendent of Schools, who is finishing up her first year in this key town position. She will be addressing the crowd during the opening ceremony which begins at 5:30 PM that Friday. It's a chance to hear from and meet one of out town's newest administrators.

The June 19th Relay For Life will be held at the Wilmington Middle School and is open to the public. After the Opening Ceremony, the focus shifts to honoring survivors and caregivers. Later that evening there is also a very beautiful and poignant Luminaria Ceremony.

Activities and entertainment continue throughout the event. There will be games, music, and much more. It's fun for the whole family. Come join the fight against cancer. Visit www.wilmingtonrfl.com to donate or for more information. Or contact Julie Rauseo at 781-314-2668 or via email at Julie.Rauseo@cancer.org to answer any questions.

Relay For Life of Wilmington committee members are excited to finalize this year's agenda. From left to right around the table, Liz Harvey, Justin Wright, Meghan Ryan, Julie Rauseo, Victoria Lee, and Kevin Dunn are shown at the last meeting. The June 19th American Cancer Society sponsored event will be held at the Middle School (5:30 PM) and is open to the public. (courtesy photo).

Bring your lawn chair and get ready for a night of laughs. The show will begin at 7:00 P.M.

We are also very excited to have Frozen Hoagies, "Boston's original ice cream sandwich truck" at this live performance! These homemade cookie sandwiches will be available to purchase and are sure to melt in your mouth!

Other events happening throughout the summer include Audrey Reed's live performance of "The Ham I AM" Part II (June 29), the Annual Cookout (July 7), Paint Night (July 20), and an Ice Cream Sundae Social (July 30) all at the Buzzell Senior Center. Additional information will be available on the website and future editions of the Buzzell Buzz.

During the month of July, the Buzzell Senior Center is thrilled to have "Outdoor Yoga" with instructor Joan Lawrence. Yoga has been a great success at the Senior Center. This is an excellent opportunity to have new individuals try the class. Classes will be on July 9, 16, 23 & 30 below the Senior Center on the green where the Swain School used to reside. This class will be from 6:00-7:00 P.M. Sign-ups will begin on June 16, 2015. If there are any questions, please contact the Senior Center.

On Sunday, September 20th, all students who attended the Buzzell School between the years of 1935-1981 are invited to attend the 80th year Anniversary of the school. Join us between 1:00-6:00 P.M. and enjoy light refreshments and classic entertainment while reconnecting with fellow classmates. This event is being made possible because of the efforts and hard work of Audrey Reed. We hope you will join us for this fun afternoon!

Car Care for New Drivers

(Family Features) While many new drivers anticipate receiving their driver's license, there are many responsibilities that come along with being a car owner, including basic maintenance.

"Most young people can't wait to drive, but their car care education should begin well before their parents hand over the keys," said Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council. "Understanding the basics of car care before taking the wheel will help keep new drivers safer on the road."

The experts with the Car Care Council offer these 10 car care inspection procedures so young drivers can better understand the importance of maintenance, enhancing the longevity and performance of their vehicle.

1. Check all fluids, including engine oil, power steering, brake and transmission as well as windshield washer solvent and coolant.
2. Check the hoses and belts to make sure they are not cracked, brittle, frayed, loose or showing signs of excessive wear.
3. Check the battery and replace if necessary. Make sure the connection is clean, tight and corrosion-free.
4. Check the brake system annually and have the brake linings, rotors and drums inspected at each oil change.
5. Inspect the exhaust system for leaks, damage and broken supports or hangers if there is an unusual noise. Exhaust leaks can be dangerous and must be corrected without delay.
6. Schedule required maintenance to help the engine deliver the best balance of power and fuel economy and produce the lowest level of emissions.
7. Check the heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC) system as proper heating and cooling performance is critical for interior comfort and for safety reasons such as defrosting.

sons such as defrosting.

8. Inspect the steering and suspension system annually including shock absorbers, struts and chassis parts such as ball joints, tie rod ends and other related components.

9. Check the tires, including tire pressure and tread. Uneven wear indicates a need for wheel alignment. Tires should also be checked for bulges and bald spots.

10. Check the wipers and lighting so that you can see and be seen. Check that all interior and exterior lighting is working properly and replace worn wiper blades so you can see clearly when driving during precipitation.

Helpful resources at every turn

Beyond basic maintenance, there are various resources available for young drivers to keep their vehicle in tip-top shape.

* The Car Care Guide is a free, easy-to-understand booklet that includes descriptions of major vehicle systems, questions to ask a professional technician and a vehicle systems checklist.

* An online custom service schedule and e-mail reminder service can help young people be more responsible and remember to include car care in their busy schedules. This easy-to-use resource is free of charge and can be personalized to help make auto care more convenient and economical.

* Also, a general service schedule can be printed and followed. New drivers should be sure to consult their vehicle owner's manual for specific recommendations by the carmaker.

For these resources and more, visit www.carcare.org.

Drug and prostitution related arrests

Monday, June 1

2:16 PM - Loss prevention from Home Depot calling to report shoplifting in the process. Police sent. Suspect got spooked, left cart of merchandise and took off on foot into Applebee's. Police were sent to investigate. Party was spoken to. Wasn't a shoplifting incident. They do not want to proceed with the no trespassing order. No report needed.

8:41 PM - Female walk-in reporting while she was at Kingfisher Road address euthanizing a dog, the owner's older son was very upset and came into the room with a baseball bat and banged it on the table. He had words with the parents before he went to the basement. Officer sent and reports no one is home.

9:25 PM - Police off at Dover House to pick up a male on a warrant. Robert Sostillo, 42, of 970 Main Street in Tewksbury, was arrested and charged with the warrant for child pornography.

Tuesday, June 2

7:09 AM - 911 call from homeowner of Floyd Avenue for multiple vehicles that had items taken from it overnight. Police sent and filed a report.

2:14 PM - Received a call for an erratic operator driving a large black pick up truck at 36 North Street and 50 East Street. Received another 911 call reporting a two-car motor vehicle accident including the erratic operator. Jason Tighe, 44, of 54 Colonial Drive in Tewksbury, was arrested and charged with second offense for OUI liquor.

7:09 PM - Frederick Pepe, 45, of 124 Lilley Avenue in Lowell, was arrested and charged with distribution of class A drugs, distribution of class B drugs, and possession of class B drugs. Armond Andrew, 47, of 754 Lakeview Avenue of Lowell, was arrested and charged with distribution of class A drugs, distribution of class B drugs, and possession to distribute class A drugs. Dominique Sproul, 18, of 189 Middlesex Street in Lowell, was arrested and charged with possession of class A drugs, possession of class B drugs, and fugitive from justice on court warrant.

9:17 PM - Alexandra Eleftheriou, 24, of 17 Sawmill Ridge Road in Haverhill, was arrested and charged operation of motor vehicle with a license suspended.

9:40 PM - Detective at IHop for suspicious activity. Shuyun Han, 50, of 69 Apthorp Street in Quincy, was arrested and charged with sexual conduct for fee. Feijian Gao, 28, of 16 Groveland Avenue in Melrose, was arrested and charged with deriving support from prostitution.

Wednesday, June 3

1:38 AM - 911 caller reporting a group of kids in his backyard drinking. Police sent and the ambulance was sent for two males with cuts. Ambulance cleared following patient refusal. Filed a report.

Thursday, June 4

3:04 AM - Police sent out with a female on foot at Orange Leaf Frozen Yogurt. Police sent backup. Ambulance sent for a female with cuts and bruises, but returning after patient refusal. Filed a report.

Friday, June 5

10:17 AM - The driver has a revoked license. Jacob Sussenberger, 38, of 410 Pinnacle Street at Tewksbury, was arrested and charged with operating a motor vehicle with license suspended for OUI.

10:59 AM - Caller reporting a suspicious white male sitting in a white van at Cobbett Street for the past hour. Police sent and they reporting he is an insurance adjuster investigating on Cobbett Street.

12:37 PM - Caller reporting a dog left in a vehicle for over an hour at Wal-Mart. Caller reporting that the owner came back to the vehicle as she was calling. Animal control notified and will be following up on it.

1:22 PM - At Dickson Avenue, caller reporting a black Dodge pickup truck blocking the road. Officer sent. Police reporting the truck is not blocking the road and there is plenty of room to get by.

5:00 PM - Police reporting they have one under arrest for simple A&B at Perfecto's Café. Andrew Brown, 17, of 19 Seneca Lane at Wilmington, was arrested and charged with A&B and resisting arrest.

Saturday, June 6

5:07 AM - Caller reporting an injured deer in the road at 1820 Andover Street and Route 495. Police sent and report the deer is deceased and has been moved to the side of the road. Deer removal contact notified and will be responding.

10:11 AM - Male party came to the station reporting his girlfriend took his car without permission. Police dispatched to the station to speak with the party. After checking the plate the vehicle was located in Shrewsbury. The police contacted them and was told they found the female walking around. She was taken into custody. The owner will pick up his car.

1:13 PM - Male party reporting he left his wallet on the counter at Dunkin Donuts. When he returned it was gone. Police sent and report they located the wallet at Dunkin Donuts. No report.

Sunday, June 7

3:18 PM - Female caller from Revere Road requested a well being check on her daughter whom she has not spoken to since the beginning of April this year. Police sent and spoke with the female. She is fine.

Zak and Ryan Bennett stand with the flower pot and sign that they will install on the island at Whipple and Pleasant in Tewksbury. Their father, Bob, seems quite pleased at his sons' initiative in being the first Tewksbury Island Adopters.

Tewksbury family adopts islands

TEWKSBURY - Zak and Ryan Bennett, with support from their dad, Bob, are the first official "Islanders" in Tewksbury.

Jumping at the chance to beautify a traffic island in town, the Bennett boys quickly submitted their application and got to work. They chose the two islands at Whipple and Pleasant, a location they pass many times each day on the way to school, sports and other activities.

Removing the artificial flowers, adding some nice plants, mulching the tree, clearing trash and mowing the grass, the boys will take care of this spot for the next three years. A lovely flower pot will be their responsibility to water. To thank them for their stewardship, a handsome sign announces their efforts.

"We are so thrilled to launch the Adopt an Island program, and we hope the Bennett boys will inspire others to take over other islands in town. Together we can make some positive impacts to the look of Tewksbury," remarks Jackie Stone, Chairwoman of the Tewksbury Beautification Committee, the group that spearheaded the program.

There are several opportunities to take over the maintenance of areas in town. A list of islands and application information is on the Town of Tewksbury website at <http://www.tewksbury-ma.gov/home/news/adopt-an-island-program-guide-lines-and-locations>.

Wilmington American Legion Post 136 Happenings

Post Elections were held for the 2015 - 2016 cycle. Our Outgoing Commander, Mike Kelley, is due a lot of gratitude for his dedication, hard work and all that he has done for Post 136, the Legion Riders, the Color Guard, the Scouts and for volunteering at The V.A. Hospital.

Thanks to Boy Scout Troup 136 and to Cub Scout Pack 136 for all the work they did at the cemetery on Memorial Day with the flags and the ceremony, and for making a great showing at the parade. They were also an escort for the Tuskegee Airman at the library on the 26th of May.

The date has now been set for the cookout at the V.A. Hospital in Bedford for the patients there. It will be held on Saturday, August 1st at 1:00PM. Some volunteers have already stepped up. We can use all the help we can get.

Our Color Guard made a good showing in The Memorial Day Parade and Ceremony at the Wildwood Cemetery. Thanks to all who came out.

We now have membership cards available for the upcoming 2016 cycle. Dues can be paid at The Post.

Please try to come by the Post and drop off non-perishable food items for The Wilmington Food Pantry. Many of our neighbors depend on this as they fall onto hard times. Contact Frank, at The Post with any questions.

A motion was made to purchase a new charcoal grill to replace the old one which is burned out. Not to exceed $200.00.

We still have Post 136 T Shirts for sale and there is a new batch coming in. They are priced at $20.00.

Sick Call: All is well, that we know of.

If anyone has any info that would pertain to the post; members passed or any other info that members might be interested in, please email to: wd.rowe@verizon.net.

Please note that going forward, the monthly meetings have changed from the 3rd Wednesday of the month at 7:00 p.m. to the 4th Saturday of the month at noon. So the next monthly meeting will be on Saturday, June 27th, at 12:00 Noon, at the Post. Hope to see you all!

Jonathan and Loretta Lamoureux of Tewksbury showed their support for Zoo New England's Franklin Park and Stone Zoos, at the Zootopia gala held at the Renaissance Boston Waterfront Hotel on May 9. The annual fundraising event raised approximately $345,000 to support Zoo New England, the non-profit that manages Franklin Park Zoo in Boston and Stone Zoo in Stoneham. Guests enjoyed an evening of cocktails, meeting some of the Zoo's education program animals, dinner, auctions and dancing! Among those who attended were Mayor Martin J. Walsh, Governor Charlie Baker, NECN's Latoya Edwards (who served as the Mistress of Ceremonies), and David Porter, Chair of Zoo New England's Board of Directors. All proceeds from Zootopia will directly benefit Zoo New England's Franklin Park Zoo and Stone Zoo and will help to further the Zoos' mission to inspire and educate the next generation of conservation stewards and leaders. Zootopia was made possible by the generosity of sponsors and supporters, including lead corporate sponsor Citizens Bank. (courtesy photo)

Another successful year for Discount Madness and Alex's Lemonade

On Saturday, May 23, Discount Madness held its second annual Alex's Lemonade event to raise money in the fight against childhood cancer. The event was a success, raising $1,750.27. Combined with last year's total, the community as raised $3,596.51 through this event for this wonderful cause. Donation items for this year's stand included:

- * Free Comic Book Subscription from Command D in Dracut
- * A 1-Year membership to Tewksbury Sports Club
- * A $25.00 Gift Card to Main Street Pizza in Tewksbury
- * A $25.00 Gift Card to Perfecto's Café in Tewksbury

- * A $50.00 Gift Card from Fresh Looks Salon in Tewksbury
- * A gift bag from Altitude Trampoline Park in Billerica
- * Custom crocheted bags and towels from Crafts by Amanda
- * Green Mountain Naturals Lemonade, Cups from Discount Madness
- * and a copy of the Alex and the Amazing Lemonade Stand book donated by the Cerullo family

The success of this year's lemonade stand would not have been possible without their help. We are planning on holding another stand next year and hope to have the continued support of the local community.

the Town of Wilmington,” said Kane.

Kane concluded her speech with a final admonition, “Make us proud as we help you and you help us. Today is not just an ending, it is a beginning. Your gift to us is to make wise decisions.”

Honor Student and Essayist Caroline Johnston addressed the assembly, “A new era of learning has come to the Town of Wilmington.” Johnston spoke of the old and new buildings, and said, “The class of 2015. We have been a patient one.”

The 2015 class is the first to graduate from the new school. Opponents of the school, otherwise known as the 10 Resident Group, held up construction by several months costing the Town $1.5 million, and prohibiting the class of 2015 to move into the school until the week of its ribbon cutting ceremony in late February.

Indeed, the class is distinctive in their journey. In the beginning of January 2013, it was announced the school’s gymnasium would be torn down as a step in the direction of providing the much needed 21st century education for the students of Wilmington. Nearly two years after the demolition of the gymnasium, the school was completed.

Demolition has since commenced and the athletic facilities are slated for completion by the end of 2015. Because the area is still under construction, on this Sunday, a beautiful May afternoon perfect for a graduation, students, families and faculty instead had to hold the ceremony inside the school’s brand new gymnasium.

A testament to their resilience, the students accepted their diplomas, as well as their surroundings with grace and poise.

Superintendent Mary Delai announced to the assembly, “Welcome to our students, parents, public officials, and Wilmington Wild Cats.”

“Congratulations to all of you for your accomplishments. You are a special class. You have been part of both the old and the new high school,” said Delai, adding, “I have gotten to know you in my first year as superintendent,” and spoke of the February ribbon cutting ceremony, “We are so fortunate to be part of this community.”

Delai expressed a special thanks to former Superintendent Joanne Benton and former Town Manager Michael Caira.

“You are a distinctive class. What I have seen is service, compassion and resilience,” said Delai.

Delai told the class, “You have demonstrated incredible resilience this winter,” and quoted Nelson Mandela, “The greatest glory in living, lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall.”

Delai also noted that the students provided 13,000 hours of community service equaling about 500 days. “We encourage you to continue,” said Delai.

Delai concluded, “My only regret is that I have not gotten to know you better. You are a talented and engaging group of students,” and concluded, “Stay true to your values, stay true to yourself, and protect and honor integrity with every fiber of your being. Be grateful to your families, your parents, your grandparents, and yes, even your siblings. They’ve made you who you are today. Gratitude is the healthiest of all emotions.”

Principal Linda Peters addressed the class, “It is an honor and a privilege to be here today. My heart is forever grateful to all of you. You are and always will be a part of the WHS family.”

Class Valedictorian Kevin Dunn gave the class some advice to remember, “No gratification comes from constantly adhering to other people’s expectations. If you feel confident, then those opinions won’t matter. Don’t compare yourselves to others. Be yourself, grow, meet your own goals, and you will be happy.”

Salutarian Jakob Aoki gave sage advice to the class, “Continue to learn, develop passions, think of what you want to do in the world, and don’t ever settle for anything less.”

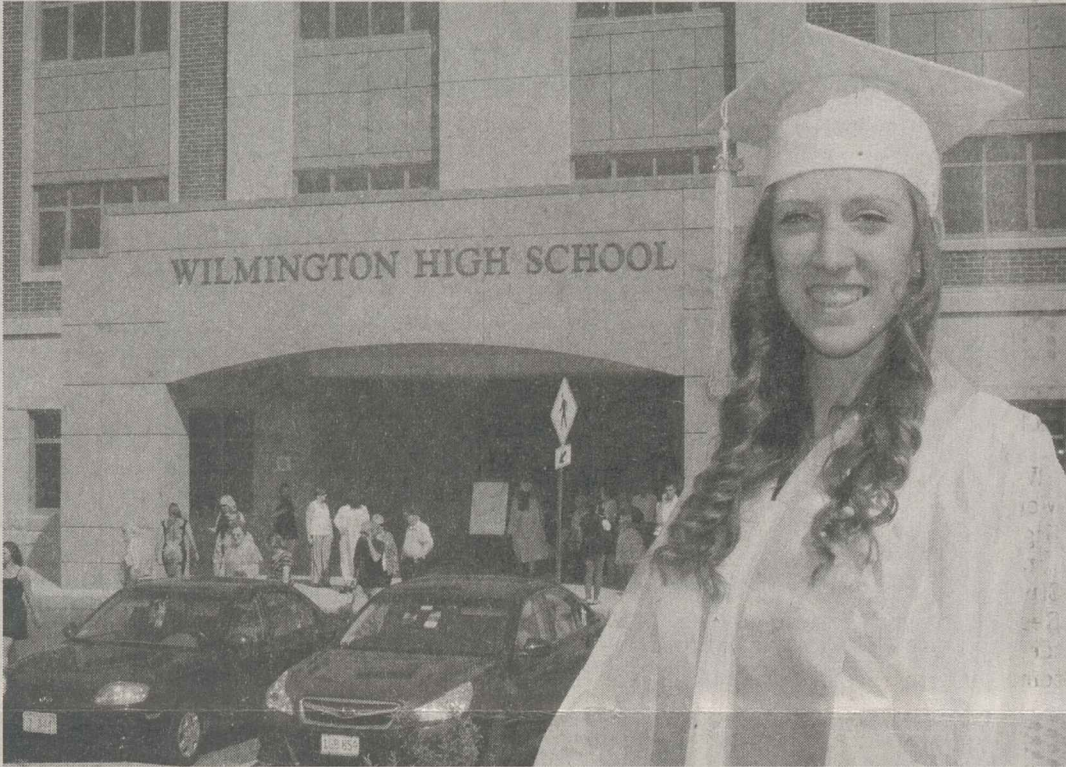

One of the more poignant speeches was given by Teacher of the Year, Michael Maloney. “I’m so fortunate to have gotten to meet so many of you,” began Maloney, “You’ve given back consistently to your community, he said, adding, “The reality is there is no one like you. You can’t expect everything to be given to you. You have to be ready to put in the hard work. If it wasn’t hard, everyone would be able to do it.”

Maloney concluded, “Always accept the challenges life has for you. Explore the world, make friends, be good to people. It was an honor to be your teacher. Do what you love.”

Michael Murphy was awarded an honorary certificate of achievement presented by his friends, Matthew Penney, Chris Sartori, Rob Fullerton and Ryan Colangelo during WHS Graduation on Sunday.

Improving school safety no easy job

operations manual for central office personnel, building administrators and first responders,” DeLai said. “We will continue to educate parents regarding our ALiCE protocol as well as annual evacuation and fire drills.”

Over the current tenure of the safety committee, the team has developed working drafts for some 27 different emergencies or incidents, ranging from bomb threats to missing children to intruders in the school. Wilmington public schools have had actual experiences with similar situations, giving the faculty ample real-life evidence for how best to coordinate difficult situations to keep students safe.

“For example, the committee found it important to include in the plan how to respond in the event a water pipe bursts while the students are in school,” DeLai said. “The previous plan didn’t mention what to do if an incident like this should happen. We were fortunate to have examples of safety plans from other districts that we could use to guide our discussions and make sure we had a comprehensive plan put together.”

Looking ahead, the safety committee plans on finding ways to make the information and plans as easily accessible as possible. Flip charts and comprehensive manuals are being developed, and an annual review cycle will keep this information as current as emergencies demand they be.

While there will always be new problems and dangers to be faced, the school and safety committees are working to ensure that Wilmington’s school children are as protected as they possibly can be.

Olin letter less than comforting to residents

meso-diaminopimelate (m-DAP) and L-lysine (Lys) in some bacteria and photosynthetic organisms.

In a memorandum dated May 25, 2011 from Dilorenzo, investigations by the EPA and the Olin had determined that there had been a release of hazardous substances to the environment at the Olin Chemical Superfund Site.

The memorandum documents the decision to proceed with an Engineering Evaluation/Cost Analysis for a non-time critical removal action at the site. The plan was for the EE/CA to address several actual and potentially contaminated private supply wells located near Olin.

Dilorenzo told the Board they are looking toward remediation of the site before the potential sale by Olin to NET.

The comfort letter, which has been shared with the Town, is not yet available to the public, but Dilorenzo assured the Board that once filed, it would be shared with the public.

NET and Olin made a Purchase and Sale agreement back in 2003, and since have been waiting for an EPA investigation to determine whether or not the property is safe for commercial use.

Dilorenzo informed the Board that any prospective purchaser would become liable should contamination occur; however after the EPA’s investigation, it had been determined that the site is acceptable for commercial use and that the next step is up to NET to purchase the property or not.

NET plans to purchase the entire property from Olin and construct a rail-to-truck transloading operation using approximately 32 acres of the 50 + acre site. The rail line on the westerly side of the property is proposed for off loading of commodities in boxcars to tractor-trailer trucks.

The rail line to the east of the site is proposed for off-loading of non-liquid commodities from tanker cars. Items might include plastic pellets and salt/magnesium chloride.

According to a letter dated March 6, 2015 from the Town Manager to the Board, Hull states, “While NET did not establish the limits of the commodities they would transport, the representatives stated that solid waste transfer and transfer of oil/petroleum are “off the table” and that the plan is to establish an area to service both their own rail cars and rail cars owned by other parties.”

It is expected that several rail cars will come into the site daily, six days per week, with each car expected to contain roughly 3 ½ truckloads of material. Trucks would arrive at the site to transfer the material and leave the site for a final destination within an estimated 2 hours from Wilmington. Trucks would then return and reload for a second delivery. This somewhat disruptive process raises concerns about vibration in the area causing potential adverse impact to the slurry wall.

Of this recent letter, dated May 13, 2015, Selectman Michael Newhouse told Dilorenzo, “I just want to underscore the point that the general public needs to understand the groundwater phase has not been completed,” adding, “I would just remind folks that the letter is not a terribly detailed concept plan, and, as a matter of fact, it’s pretty paltry.”

The biggest issue around this third phase of investigation is the potential contamination of the slurry wall/cap containment structure built by Olin in 2000. A slurry wall is a technique used to build reinforced concrete walls in areas of soft earth close to open water or with a high ground water table. This technique is typically used to build diaphragm (water-blocking) walls surrounding tunnels and open cuts, and to lay foundations.

The structure has a 30-year design life, and as it is already 15 years old, puts it and the community in a vulnerable position. According to Dilorenzo, there will be a monitoring plan associated with the wall, and that GeoInsight continues to monitor the site.

Residents are understandably skeptical. Suzanne Sullivan spoke on the issue, “We are really concerned with this letter.”

Sullivan expressed her concern that only two of a three-part investigation had been implemented. Sullivan asked Dilorenzo point blank, “Can this comfort letter allow the site to be developed for commercial use without OU3?” Lorenzo answered, “Yes.”

The three steps include remediation activities for Operable Units on the site, and the third is critical as it concerns groundwater contamination.

According to the letter, OU1 was intended to address source control concerns including soil, sediment, surface water and potential vapor issues. OU2 was intended to address source control and management of migration concerns, including surface water and sediment issues, and OU3 was intended to address management of migration concerns and involves groundwater and potential vapor issues.

Newhouse addressed Dilorenzo, “Jim, you made the point that the EPA’s job is to ensure commercial workers are safe to be there. The reality is we are not in a scenario where the Town can assess if the site is appropriate for commercial use.”

Selectman Judith O’Connell also expressed her concerns about commercial use on an already compromised site, telling Dilorenzo, “I’m not pleased with the vagueness of this letter.”

Soccer player makes US Under 16 Team

Wingate makes leap to national status

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

BrendanMFoley@Outlook.com

PORTLAND, OR.,/WILMINGTON-- For many students, just getting through their first year in high school can be achievement enough.

For Wilmington High School freshman Olivia Wingate, she has had to contend with not only school, but with the athletic opportunity of a lifetime.

Wingate recently travelled to Portland, Oregon where she took part in a training camp for the United States Under 16 National Girls Soccer Team. There, Wingate trained with some of the best athletes in the country.

"I felt really proud just to be called up," Wingate said. "It was a huge accomplishment and honor to be playing with some of the best players in the world."

The U16 training camp lasted from May 30 to June 6, during which Wingate and the rest of the girls underwent two grueling training sessions per day. Head coach Tricia Taliaferro put the 24 prospects through their paces. In her position as forward, Wingate had to memorize intensive passing drills, and keep up her conditioning to keep up with the best that the United States has to offer. The effort was all the more strenuous, given that Wingate usually plays with a U15 group.

"They've got to live and breathe the game," said Jason Dewhurst. Dewhurst coached Wingate on her club team, the U15 FC Stars of Massachusetts, and he also worked as assistant coach with the national team. "They have to invest in and of themselves, besides what they do with their club."

Luckily, Wingate was perfectly positioned to make the most out of this sort of training.

"My biggest strength as a player is my speed and my ability to get in and around other players very quickly," Wingate said. "I can make those runs that other players can't catch."

Wingate has had time to grow accustomed to the demands of training at the national level. She attended her first camp in February, hiking out to Carson, California for her first session. Since then, Wingate has participated in national team events ranging from Pennsylvania to Chula Vista, CA.

"I enjoy playing with girls from around the country," Wingate said. "I've made a lot of great friendships with girls from out of state."

Wingate's prowess on the field has been a great help to the U15 FC Stars of Massachusetts, helping push them to their status as a powerhouse team of the Elite Clubs National League (playing for the Stars eliminates her from any high school competition). This past season, Wingate's squad took the top spot in the Northeast conference, closing out the year with a final record of 13-2-1.

"She's a hard working kid who scores goals," Dewhurst said. "That's what she does."

Between the triumphant year for the FC Stars and the invitation to play with the national team, it has become something a whirlwind year for Wingate, and for her lifelong love affair with the game of soccer. While she has played numerous other sports, soccer has gradually taken on more and more precedence as the game she loves most and most strongly pursues.

"I just fell in love with the way the game is played," Wingate said. "Basketball, you score a point every time you go down the court. I fell in love with soccer at a young age and still love it now."

Prioritizing soccer has not hurt her performance in other sports. This past winter, Wingate proved to be a major force for the Wilmington Wildcats Girls Varsity Hockey team, racking up major points on the ice and driving the offense onward.

This tremendous success has come as no surprise to her soccer coaches. Caryn Goulet coached Wingate for five years of travel soccer, and was consistently blown away by her performance. As a U13 team, Wingate and Goulet made it all the way to the state championship game before losing in the finals.

"She's a natural athlete," Goulet said. "She has a natural vision, natural athletic ability. The hallmark of Olivia as an athlete and as a person is that she is constantly competitive."

Goulet recalled a time when, as a fifth grader, Wingate trained herself to use her left foot as much as possible, even though she naturally favored her right foot. Wingate wanted to be as versatile as possible, regardless of which side she was placed on.

"She's versatile, she adjusts well, and she's so coachable," Goulet said. "It is no surprise that she has excelled."

"She's one of those kids who is just like a sponge," Dewhurst agreed. "She just takes it all in."

Wingate cannot wait to continue with the national team. She hopes to keep up with the training camps and perhaps make it to the World Cup team in the not-too distant future.

Someday, Wingate might take to the soccer field and be playing not just for herself or for her team, but for the honor of the United States of America. The next camp is scheduled for August, and a roster for girls invited back will be released in July. Wingate has high hopes.

"It's such a high honor to get to play for your country," Wingate said. "I'm so proud and excited to be doing that."

Youth Lacrosse Team Summaries

On Saturday, the No. 8 seed Wilmington U15 Select Boys Lacrosse team took on No. 9 seed Newton in a first round match up at the Woburn Street School.

The Wildcats were up to the task in this one and dominated Newton from start to finish and cruised to an 8-5 victory. Wilmington played superior defense in this one as Kyle and Cam Kenyon, Josh Smith and Tyler Wood didn't allow very many scoring chances on goalie Jimmy Theriault.

Offensively, the Wildcats were led in scoring by Pat MODOONO (3), Joey Theriault (3), Connor Benoit (1) and Andrew Sullivan (1). Assists on the goals went to Sullivan (2) and Zack Kincaid (1).

Wilmington's victory advanced the team to the next round against powerful top seed North Reading that had to be played a mere three hours later. Unfortunately for the Wildcats, they were unable to overcome fatigue, illness to Captain Andrew Sullivan, and untimely penalties as the Hornets prevailed 11-4.

Wilmington got down early by the score of 7-2 at the end of the first quarter before its defense settled in and started to handle NR's potent offense. The Wildcats were short-handed most of the second quarter due to penalties and its defense and man-down midfielders of Ryan Martin, Shane Ahlin and Connor Benoit were up to the task, as they only surrendered one goal.

GLOUCESTER — When you think about what they accomplished, it would be impossible to think of the Wilmington High Boys Tennis team's season as anything but a great success.

After all, not only did the Wildcats advance to the state tournament for the first time since the 2002 season, the seniors also snapped a frustrating streak of three consecutive seasons of narrowly missing out on the postseason by just one match.

There were indeed many big wins and many great moments for the Wildcats throughout the season. Those moments, however, did not make it hurt any less last Thursday afternoon when they were eliminated in the first round of the Division 2 North sectional tournament with a 3-2 loss to Gloucester.

The No. 13 seed Wildcats, battled the No. 4 seed Fishermen every step of the way before dropping the heartbreaker two and their season with a 9-10 record.

"I thought the kids played real well", said Wilmington coach Rob Mailey. "They fought hard. Gloucester was a good team and they had a rowdy home crowd supporting them, but our kids fought to the end. It's just too bad they weren't able to get the win."

The Wildcats got in outstanding effort in first singles from senior co-captain Justin Wright in his final high school match. Wright battled a very talented player from Gloucester, and came out on top with a straight set 7-6, 6-4 victory.

"He was playing a very athletic kid but Justin really competed well in both sets to get the win," Mailey said.

Things did not go quite as well for the Wildcats in second singles where fellow senior co-captain Robbie Mailey suffered a 6-0, 6-2 defeat at the hands of his cousin Kyle Mailey.

Third singles provided not only a big win for the Wildcats, but also a great look into the future of the program, as sophomore Evan Myers earned a dominating 6-2, 6-2 victory.

"His match was never in doubt", Mailey said. "He played real well in a pressure situation. That definitely bodes well for next year."

On the doubles side the Wildcats lost a pair of heart breakers, starting in second doubles where juniors Quinton Foley and Mike Gake dropped a 2-6, 6-2, 6-2 decision.

"Quinton and Mike started off real well, but give the Gloucester kids credit, they really stepped up in the second and third sets."

In first doubles seniors Mike Marcinkowski and William Reynolds dropped a tough 3-6, 7-6, 6-3 decision in the final match of the day.

"It was real tough to lose that one," Mailey said. "But the kids battled hard all the way through. You can't fault them for their effort, it just didn't go their way."

It was certainly a frustrating way to end the season for Mailey and the Wildcats, and it is a loss that will likely stick with them for a while. But one thing that Mailey will never have to question is the effort his team put into their first post season appearance.

"We gave it a good shot," Mailey said. "I think Gloucester having been in the tournament before, and it being our first time made a difference, but our kids gave it everything they had. Sometimes those 3-2 matches go your way and sometimes they do not. What can you do?"

A big part of the Wildcats success this season came from their six seniors, each of whom played key roles in many of the team's victories. Co-captains Wright and Robbie Mailey, along with Marcinkowski, Reynolds, Jake Vieira and Jon MacKinnon will all be moving on from the Wildcats, but they will not be forgotten.

"We are going to miss them," Mailey said. "They were not only excellent players, but they were great role models. There is no doubt they made us better."

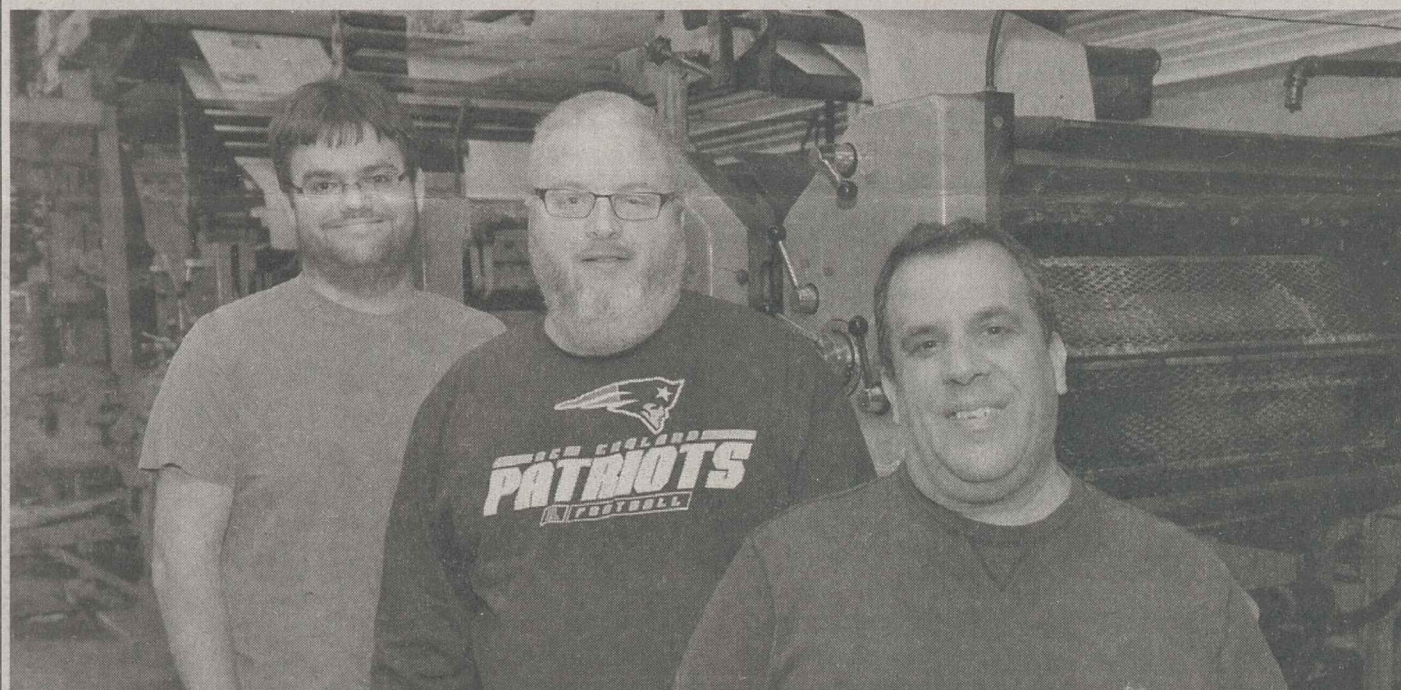

Four of the team's seniors, Wright, Mailey, Vieira and MacKinnon, have been with the Wildcats for three or four years and their contributions to the program were greatly appreciated. But the addition of two new seniors to this year's squad seemed to help put the Wildcats over the top in their quest for the post season, with Marcinkowski and Reynolds proving to be key contributors in doubles play all season long.

"Liam and Mike gave us depth we had never had before," Mailey said. "I have to give them a lot of credit. But all of them really were great. I think Justin and Robbie were the best 1-2 combination I have ever had, and when you think about the job Justin did at number one against the great competition he had to face in every match, he did a great job for us."

Overall, this was a team and a season that Mailey will not soon forget, regardless of the tough way it ended.

"We had a real good season. It was the first time in a lot of years that we made the tournament, so I was very proud of that," Mailey said. "I loved our team this season. I really enjoyed having these kids."

The #1 Sports Team in Tewksbury and Wilmington

The Town Crier Sports Department prides itself on being the best weekly sports section, not only in the two towns of Wilmington and Tewksbury, but in the entire state. No other weekly sports section covers every high school varsity athletic team like we do for WHS, TMHS and Shawsheen Tech. No other weekly newspaper covers local college and professional athletes like we do, as well as give coverage to road races, adult sports, and provide pages of youth sports in both towns every week.

The Town Crier provides accurate, insightful, and indepth coverage of all local teams and hard-working athletes every week, and has done so for the past five decades. The Sports Department of Jamie Pote, Mike Ippolito and Brendan Foley pride themselves on not only being the Sports Faces of both Wilmington and Tewksbury, but telling great stories about the athletes of these two terrific towns.

Spy Ponders silence Wildcats bats

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

ARLINGTON - The season came to an end for the Wilmington High School Softball team last Wednesday afternoon. The No. 13 seed Wildcats were defeated by the No. 4 seed Arlington Spy Ponders, 6-0, in the first round of the Division 2 North Sectional tournament played at Pierce Field.

With the loss, Wilmington ends its season at 10-11 overall. Arlington improved to 16-5 but then were defeated by No. 12 seed Tewksbury, 6-1, on Sunday afternoon. The Redmen were scheduled to face Middlesex League rival Reading in the semi-finals on Tuesday afternoon.

"We were very competitive even though we lost," said Wilmington coach Audrey Cabral-Pini of the loss to Arlington. "Unfortunately we hit into three double plays. We made great contact but it was at someone. We just couldn't find the holes. The heart wrenching play came when we had runners on second and third with one out and Jen (Dovidio) lined out into an inning ending double play. It was a rally killer."

Arlington pitcher Melanie DeAlmeida, who is off to Merrimack College in the fall, seemed to be in complete control of the game. "Our inexperience showed at the plate also by allowing the Arlington pitcher to 'quick pitch us'. I kept telling them to raise their hand to ask for time but they would forget and get down early in the at bats," said Cabral-Pini.

Arlington was able to break things open with four runs in the bottom of the third.

"We had one bad inning and they scored four runs," said Cabral-Pini. "That inning they should have plated only one run but we made a critical mental error and allowed a routine pop up to go uncaught. Then two little flares later and we are down (4-0). Not having been to tournament for a few years now, the girls were extremely excited to be there. They held their ground and played the co-champs of the large tough for five innings."

The season started off slow for the Wildcats before the team was able to turn things around during the middle portion before struggling towards the end of the regular season. But so much of that was due to the young members on the roster.

"We had consistent and good pitching this year," said Cabral-Pini. "Having a pitching coach (Chelsie Babcock) on board this year, definitely made a difference. Neither Jen or Antonia were overpowering but they did hit their spots."

"As the season went on we cut down on physical errors and the girls realized that they could play with anyone. The mental errors need to be lessened. We have got to be a little more aggressive. But these things should happen with just more playing time under their belts."

The team will be losing four seniors including Bridget Santos, Michaela Ouellette, Shelby McHugh and Lauren Mulligan.

"The seniors were awesome this year," said Cabral-Pini. "They were always encouraging their teammates. They were always very supportive. Although the infield was comprised of all underclassmen the seniors worked hard every day and contributed in any manner asked. The chemistry on the team was outstanding."

"Our future looks bright but there is no guarantees. We have some potential on the freshmen and JV teams. The girls must continue to work hard in order to get back to the tournament next year. We will continue to live by our motto 'hard work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard'."

Boys Kindergarten Colorado Rapids vs. Portland Timbers

Viraj Patel, Ryan Archer and Evan Walsh strong tough work on the field led to several goal scoring opportunities, while the iron clad defensive efforts of Frank Cain, Cameron Molina and Maxwell Bagtaz kept the Timbers from creating an offensive attack.

On the other side of the ball for the Portland Timbers was an incredible offensive performance by Henry Santini and Surau

Sanariya, while goals scored by Jonathan Stokes and Jake Gryglik got the Portland Timbers on the board. With a rock solid defensive stand led by Liam Zollner the Portland Timbers was never out of this game. The midfield team of Caden Merritt and Riley Caples could only be classified as awesome.

Seattle Sounders vs. Chicago Fire

Excellent offensive plays by Brady Beldekas and Xavier Rojas De Los Santos of the Chicago Fire applied heavy pressure leading to goals by teammate Jonathan Malley. The Fire's defensive positioning by Jake Beldekas and Ryan Hudd fended off any threat that came thru making it tough for the Sounders to score.

Girls Grade 1 Washington Spirit vs. Houston Dash

The Houston Dash was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Skylar Nguyen leading to goals by Abigail Howie, Zoey Helbert, and Ava Noble. The defense showcased their skills today with Sadie Winchell and Isabella Rogers keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Boys Grade 1 New York Red Bulls vs. DC United

The air was full of excitement, as the much-anticipated match between the N.Y. Red Bulls and D.C. United commenced. Fantastic ball skill were displayed by

Wildcats fall apart; eliminated by Belmont

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

WILMINGTON - The only Silver Lining you can take out of last Thursday's 8-1 state tournament loss was one absolutely incredible play by center fielder Graham Smith. He's only a freshman and the play he made should have easily been on "SportsCenter" that night.

Trailing 4-1 in the top of the fifth inning, Belmont had a runner at first with two outs. The team's No. 5 hitter Nick Cail greeted relief pitcher Danny Gracia with a line drive deep to left center field on a first pitch fastball. The ball split the two outfielders, rolled down the small hill and almost into the woods. Smith came racing over, moving from left to right and grabbed the ball, and in one motion he fired a throw well over 200-feet, completely in the air, right to third baseman Devin Field. He easily applied the tag on Cail for the third out of the inning, before Christofori - who was jogging around the bases - scored from first.

"Geez, holy cow. That was just incredible, absolutely incredible," said Wildcat head coach Aldo Caira. "The throw was easily 200 feet, easily. That was right on the button, right on the button. Graham told me that he was yelling at Spurr (saying) 'Spurr get out of the way, get out of the way'. It was a great throw, a great throw."

That kept the score 4-1 but Belmont added three runs in the sixth and one more in the seventh to eliminate the Wildcats, who played easily it's ugliest game of the season at the most important time.

"No, we didn't (play well at all)," said Caira. "I thought we were ready. We played the first three innings and we were fine and then we just fell apart."

Wilmington ended the season at 11-10 overall, a far cry from the pre-season predictions that had the Wildcats as one of the top teams in the entire state.

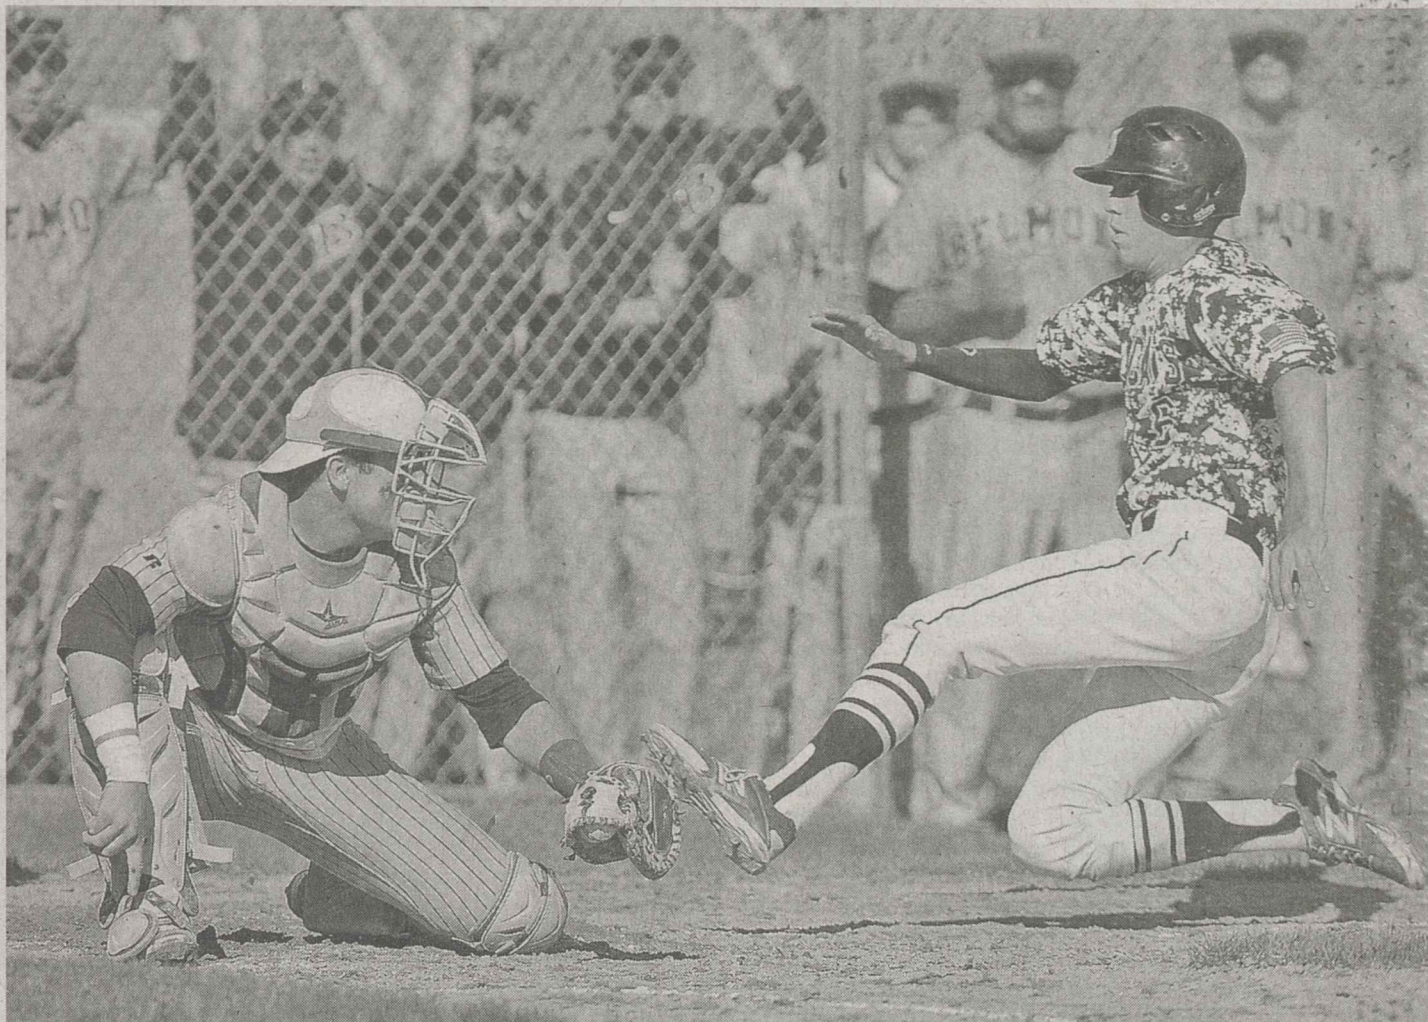

"This (loss) was probably apropos of our whole season," said Caira. "But we have a lot to look forward too. We have a lot of young players on the team. We're going to lose (Jamie) Hill, (Evan) Raffi, (Devin) Field and couple of other boys, but we have three pitchers coming back, our shortstop and center fielder will be back as well. We also brought up a few guys who have been working with us that will contribute next year so we'll see."

Through the first three innings it appeared as if the large crowd would see a sensational pitcher's duel. Wilmington's Jackson Gillis retired 10-of-the-first 11 batters he faced, giving up a two-out double in the first, but getting the other ten batters out, six on strikeouts and the other four on infield outs.

Meanwhile, Belmont's Cole Bartels, the Liberty Division's MVP, was wheeling and dealing and matching Gillis. He had control problems to start the game walking both Smith and Raffi, but got out of the jam with three straight strikeouts, including the first coming after two failed bunt attempts.

"No, we didn't (get the bunts down)," answered Caira. "You try and it just doesn't happen sometimes. He (Bartels) definitely brought it. He's a very good pitcher. We put guys on base but we just didn't take advantage of those opportunities."

Wilmington went in order in the second before scoring its only run in the bottom of the third to take a 1-0 lead. Gracia started the inning

Track teams end seasons at state meets

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

FALL RIVER - Both the Wilmington High School Boys and Girls Track-and-Field teams competed in the state and all-state meets this past week, ending their seasons.

Connor Bennett, Steve Layon and Joe Gaudreau were the only members out of either squad to advance to the All-States which were held on Saturday at Fitchburg State College. There, Bennett finished 15th in the discus throwing 134-05, Layon was 20th in the javelin throwing 136-03 and Gaudreau was 17th in the 200 (23.18).

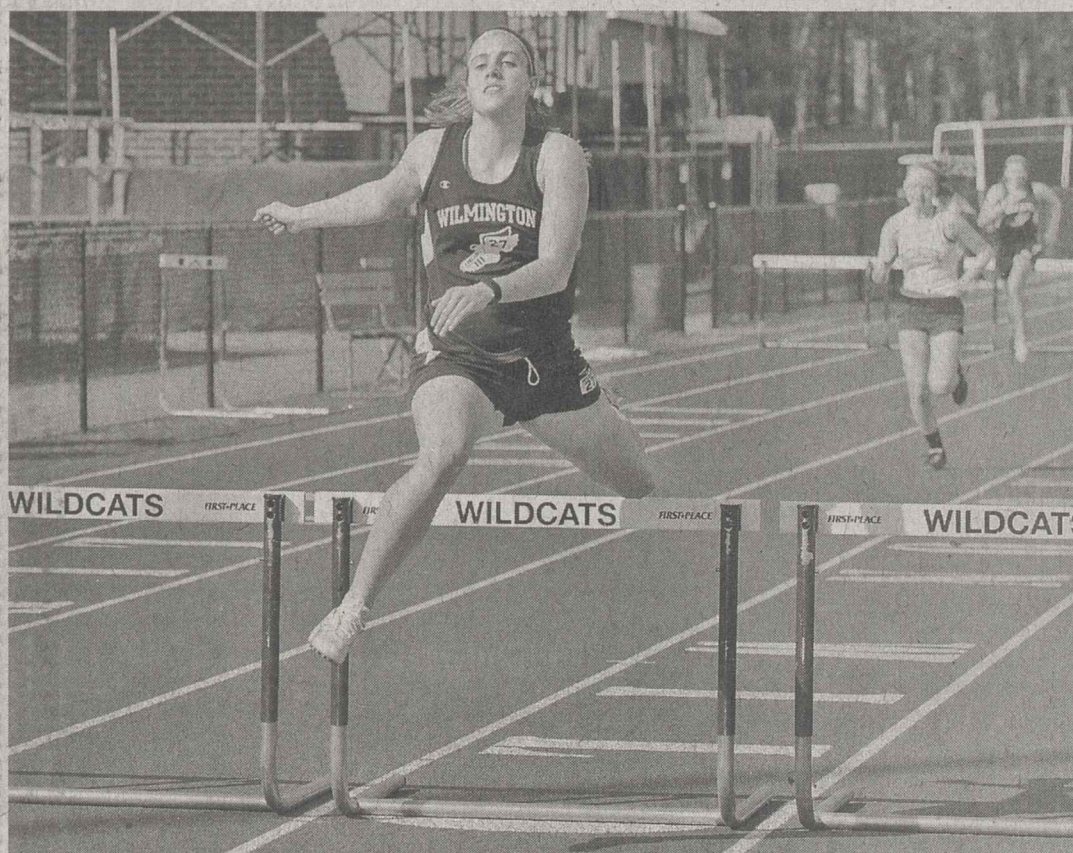

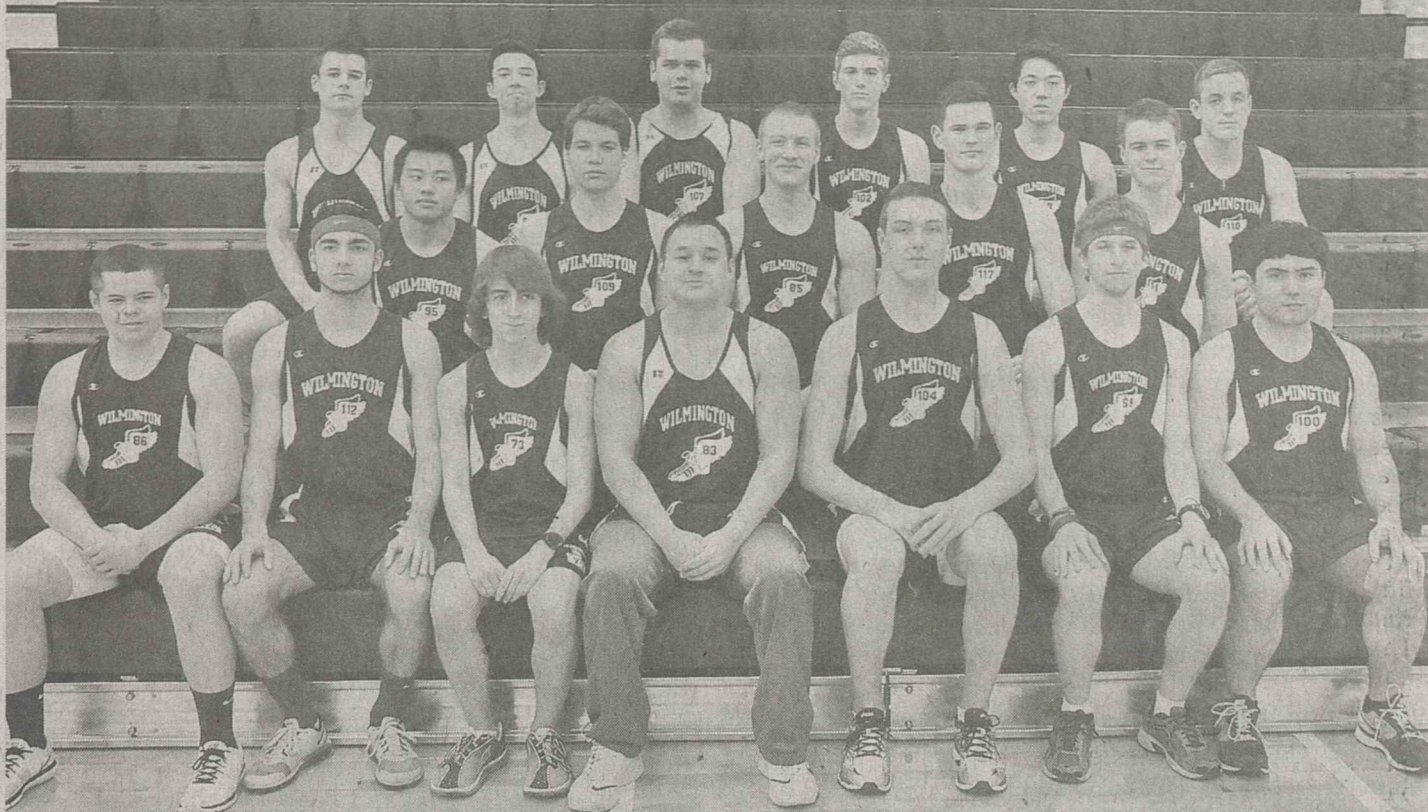

Three days before that was the Class C Eastern Mass Meet held at Durfee High School. The Boys team finished in 17th place out of 33 teams and the Girls placed 27th out of 34 teams. Layon finished third in the javelin with a throw of 157-01, which was 21 feet better than his throw three days later. Bennett was also third in the discus throwing 131-08 and he also was 14th in the long jump with a mark of 18-02.25.

Also scoring points in the individual events included Evan Sperlinga, who was 7th in the 100 at 11.48 and Gaudreau, who was also 7th in the 200 at 22.98. The 4x100 relay team was 7th with a combined time of 44.97 seconds.

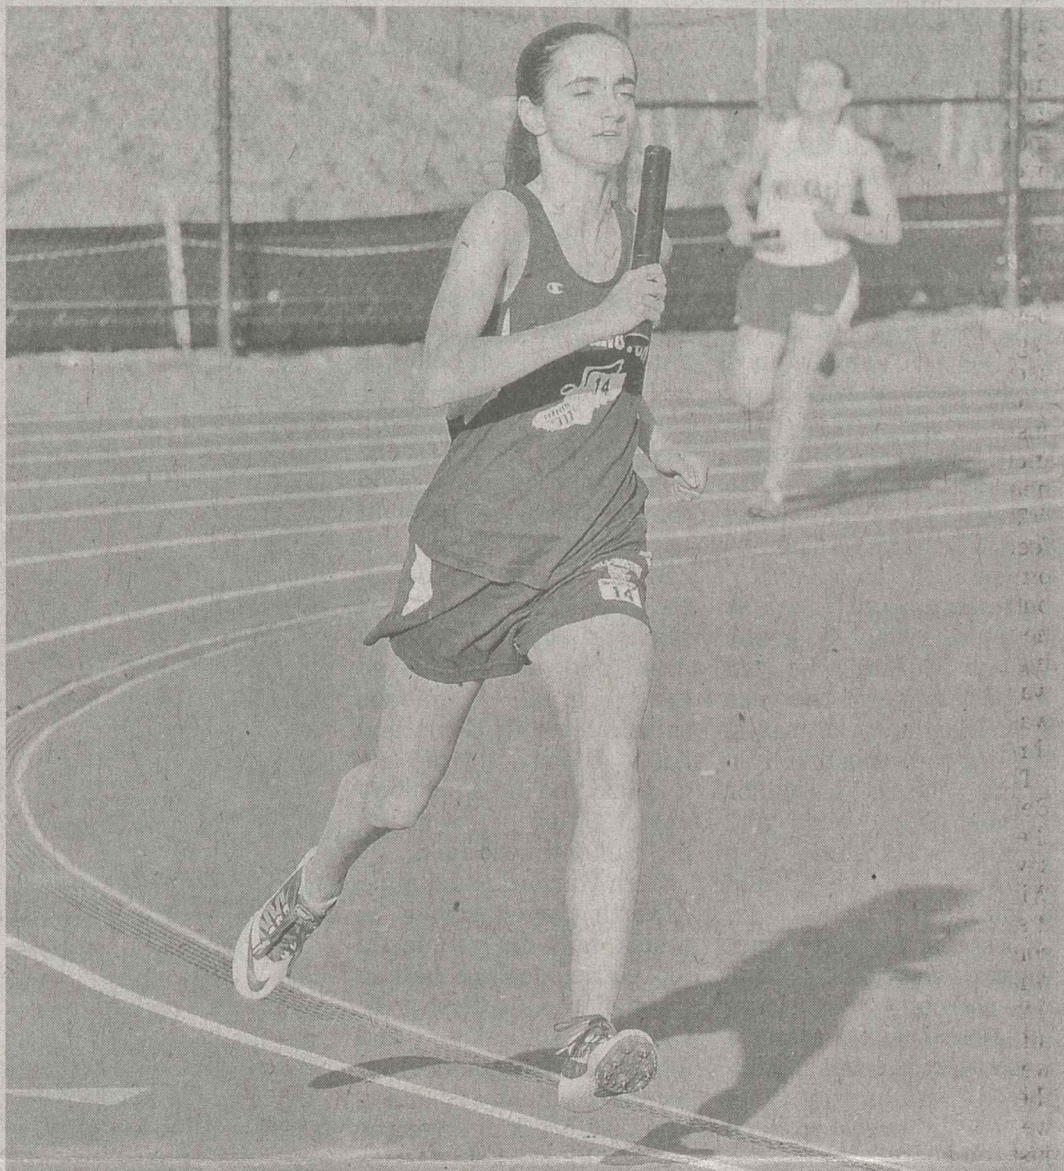

Also competing but not placing included: Nathan Vince, who was 12th in the 110-meter hurdles (16.69),

Wilmington Youth Lacrosse Team Summaries

Despite the halftime score of 9-2, Wilmington never quit and played North Reading even for the rest of the game. Scoring goals in the game for the Wildcats were Sullivan, Benoit, Theriault and Thomas Grecco with the assists going to Benoit, Theriault and Jake Timmons.

The U15 team finished their season 6-3 overall and should be very proud of their accomplishments.

Boys U15 White

On Sunday, the U15 White team traveled to Bedford and came away with a hard fought 7-6 overtime victory. The Wildcats were undermanned in this one as they only dressed 13 players due to injury and having siblings at the WHS graduation.

Wilmington was led offensively by Shane Ahlin, who had a monster game by netting four goals, including the OT game-winner. Other goal scorers were Dave Fraser (2), Randall Vega and Jake Timmons. Assists on the goals went to Fraser (3), Vega, Ryan Martin and Thomas Grecco.

Wilmington's defense was led on the day by goalie Andrew Munsie, who had his best game of the year by making many key saves. Keeping the shots to a minimum were Connor Rooney, Tyler Wood and Martin, with some help provided by Vega and Dylan Wargo.

It should be noted that Martin, Vega and Wargo are normally midfielders and Rooney plays attack - these players unselfishly played admirably on defense in order to help their team in a time of need.

Also contributing to the win on Sunday was Dylan Albert, JJ Thibert and Alan Morris. These players needed to be switched between attack and midfield and were able to provide solid support throughout the game.

Boys 15 Blue

Wilmington 8, Lynnfield 4
The Wilmington U15 Blue team closed out the regular season on Sunday with an 8-4 victory against a good Lynnfield team. After giving up two goals to start the game, Wilmington went on an 8-2 run to close out their regular season with a 5-1 record and four straight wins.

Danny Woods led all scorers with four goals while Connor Benoit chipped in with two goals and Andrew Sullivan and Jake Fox each contributed with a goal.

The defense, led by Josh Smith, Frankie Irizarry, Kyle Kenyon and Cam Kenyon were solid for the Wildcats. Aaron Soto had another strong showing in net, giving up only three goals in the first half before moving to midfield for the second half.

After coming out a little flat, Woods scored back to back goals. Benoit and Sullivan each chipped in goals and the Wildcats led 4-2 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, both teams played solid defense and scoring was at a minimum. The lone Wilmington goal was scored by Fox and Wilmington gave up one goal to take a 5-3 lead into the half.

Attackers Tommy King, Atley Miller, Prathik Ramesh, Ben Wright, Nick Bruce and Jose Rojas-James were solid offensively and when it came to putting pressure on the Lynnfield defense and creating turnover situations.

Wilmington extended their lead in the third quarter with goals by Benoit and Woods and assists by Adam Bishop and Zach Kincaid who were all solid for Wilmington at the Midfield position.

The Wildcats also mixed up their lineup in the second half with Smith going to attack and Wright going to defense as well as Soto going to midfield and Sullivan going to goalie. Sullivan was spectacular in the second half only surrendering one goal while making six saves.

A fourth goal by Woods gave Wilmington an 8-4 lead and that would be the final score of the game. Wilmington will head to Fort Devens next Saturday for the end of the year jamboree.

Girls U9 White

The Girls U9 team played their last game on Sunday against Bedford, a team that has been playing together for two seasons. Shae Gould started the game in goal and held her own making some great saves and clears. Addy Holland and Bella Iascone helped out on defense in the first half and fought hard against Bedford.

Brynne Ebert played center and showed her strength as she won the draw and also displayed her great defense skills. Meredith Ebert and Kiley Bloom started on midfield and did a phenomenal job working the ball down the field.

Keira Warford and Emma Alworth played strong at attack, both did a fantastic job cutting for the ball in front of the Bedford goal. Callie McCauley and Jillian Collins also helped out at midfield and did a great job working together and making great passes. Kaleigh Brennan and Sydney Crane helped out on defense during the first half, both girls stayed strong against their opponents.

Wilmington had numerous chances to score in the first half and did great getting the ball down the field. At the U9 level three passes are required before you can shoot on goal and every time Wilmington made their third pass a Bedford player was there to intercept. Bedford scored four goals in the first half.

Wilmington didn't give up. The girls continued to fight hard against the girls from Bedford. Bella Iascone played goal for the second half of the game and played unbelievable, making many significant saves. Meredith Ebert and Keira Warford protected the goal together on defense as they boxed out their opponents.

Emma Alworth started the second half at center and did a great job controlling the draw and playing both offensively and defensively. Jillian Collins and Kaleigh Brennan helped out at midfield and showed their speed and endurance as they transitioned the ball down the field. Callie McCauley and Sydney Crane did well recognizing and creating space while playing attack.

Shae Gould also showed great field vision as she helped out at midfield. Kiley Bloom came in to help out at center and showed her consistent and reliable stick skills. Addy Holland and Brynne Ebert played exceptional together on attack as they cut for the ball and got open.

Wilmington played tough and never gave up in the second half but Bedford showed great effort and scored another goal. The game ended with Bedford winning the game 5-0. The season ended with a record of 2-2-3.

sports@yourtowncrier.com

Back in 2008, Doreen Syliva Dunlevy was already no stranger to charity walks, having participated in several Avon and Susan B. Coleman Breast Cancer walks in Boston since the year 2000, always willing to do her part to help others.

But still Doreen wanted more. The Tewksbury native wanted a way to continue these walks, but make them even better, and more beneficial to the ultimate goal of finding a cure for cancer. She envisioned a walk where 100 percent of the donated money would go directly to the cause, with no fund raising limits. She also envisioned an event that would provide options to people of all fitness levels with no required fund raising limits.

But rather than just think about how great it would be to hold this type of event, Dunlevy decided to do something about it, and thus Walk2Day was established, and has grown ever since into a great annual event where participants walk on the beautiful beaches and streets of Wells and Ogunquit Maine.

And the best part is, Dunlevy's vision is now a reality. One hundred percent of the money donated does indeed go directly to breast cancer research. Walk2Day supports the Mass General Hospital Gillette Center for Cancer. It also supports the Barry F. Dunlevy Foundation of Tewksbury, an organization that reaches out to local families struggling with both emotional stress and financial hardship related to the illness. Walkers choose where their donation will go.

And there are indeed different walking options for people of different fitness levels, as Walk2Day offers both a one day walk that covers five, ten or 15 miles, or a two day walk that covers 30 miles.

Last month on May 2nd and 3rd, in the sixth Annual Walk2Day, Dunlevy was joined on the beaches of Ogunquit and Wells by 46 other walkers for Day One of the event, while 21 walkers participated in both days.

This year Walk2Day raised over $18,500 for these two great causes, and since 2008 the event has raised $79,432. This year, one of the biggest contributors to Walk2Day was the Wilmington High School Boys Hockey group. Through the fundraising efforts of Marcia Cavanaugh, a six year Walk2Day participant, Wilmington High School Hockey donated over $2,000 to the MGH Cancer Center.

For Dunlevy, seeing her dream of this type of event come true is like, well, like having her dream come true. And this year was no different, as she was once again amazed by the women (and now men) who took part in the event.

"We had mothers and daughters, sisters, aunts, and many friends," Dunlevy said. "Last year we had our first male contingency. Thanks to the generosity of friends, we have women staying in various cottages all around town. We have a fantastic support team of cooks, sweep van drivers, and helpers."

"Come join us next year on Saturday April 30th for the one day walk or stay for the weekend and walk Sunday May 1st, too."

If you would like to find out more about Walk2Day, check out their Facebook or Twitter page to learn more about this nonprofit organization.

Tennis Open Tournery, June 25-27

The Friends of Tewksbury Tennis will be holding the 5th Annual Tewksbury Open at the new Tewksbury Memorial High School courts on June 25-27, 2015.

Rams Boys Lax eliminated after preliminary round win

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

This season had its share of ups and downs for the Shawsheen Tech Boys Lacrosse team, but in the end, it will be looked back on as one of the best seasons in the history of the very successful program.

After winning the State Vocational Tournament a couple of weeks ago for just the third time in school history, the Rams set out to make even more history this past week.

Last Wednesday afternoon, for just the second time in program history and for the first time since 2011, the Rams earned a state tournament victory, routing Northeast Metro Tech by a score of 16-4 in the first round of the Division 3 North Tournament to earn a spot in the quarterfinals for the first time in school history.

The Rams were eventually eliminated in the quarters by a powerful Wakefield squad, but not before leaving a permanent mark at Shawsheen.

Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker, who also presided over that 2011 squad that earned a preliminary round win over Belmont, was proud to see his team come out on top over Northeast.

The No. 7 Rams had defeated CAC rival, No. 10 Northeast twice previously in the regular season, so they had plenty of reason to be confident heading into the tournament game, but their two previous victories also gave Baker some cause for concern.

"Whenever you play a team more than twice in a season, there is concern," Baker said. "We just needed to continue playing as we did through the (vocational tournament) and I knew that we would advance. The seniors got another big win on their home field, so everything was good. The team played well."

Junior attack Jack Stone of Tewksbury led the way offensively for the Rams, scoring five goals and adding an assist. Stone finished the season as the Rams top scorer with 67 goals and 16 assists on the campaign.

Sophomore Jake Nardone added three goals and an assist for the Rams, while freshman Will Bouley, junior Josh Bouley and senior Donovan Ryan of Wilmington added two goals each for the Rams.

Freshman Will Bouley finished the season with 44 goals and 13 assists for 57 points, while sophomore Nardone had 31 goals and four assists.

It was a complete team effort for the Rams, who also got a strong game in net from senior goalie Kevin Vacca.

"The offense and defense played well throughout the game," Baker said. "They wanted to advance and did just that. It is always great to see scoring shared. It shows that we are not a one dimensional team."

"The kids were psyched. Not many teams have advanced past an opponent in the tournament, so no matter who the opponent is or was, a tournament win always feels great."

The Rams were unable to pull off the shocker against Wakefield in the quarterfinals, dropping a 17-3 decision to the Warriors. Baker knew his team would need a miracle of sorts if they were going to pull the upset, having lost to the Warriors by a score of 15-1 earlier in the season.

While they were unable to pull off the miracle, Baker was still proud of his team's effort, as they hung with their rivals from the MVC for a half.

"They were as good as expected. In our first game with them we had less than two minutes of offensive play," Baker said. "We went into the game with this on our mind and in the first half we did what we wanted to do. We did much better on the faceoffs, we had longer offensive sets with scoring chances and left the first half within reach (only down 7-3)."

"Wakefield came out in the second half determined and scored four unanswered goals to put the game out of reach. They are very good, but I am proud of the way we played. We played tough, fast and played with class. We had a great season, even considering this loss. This team went through the season with many bumps, so to make it to the quarterfinals in the North, I am very happy."

The Rams will lose six seniors off of this year's squad, including quad captains Chris Arkalis, Tom Avgis, Jack Peacock and Kevin Vacca. Jon Tower of Tewksbury and Donovan Ryan of Wilmington were the other Rams seniors.

"All of these guys have been around the program for their entire time here at the school," Baker said. "They kept the program at the level of play that I and my coaches demand. They all developed into solid players over the years as well as great leaders. The senior class this year has six great kids and they will be missed on and off of the field."

The CAC All-Stars were also announced last week, and the Rams were well represented, with Stone, Avgis and Arkalis being named to the squad, while Vacca was named CAC Defensive Player of the Year.

Saugus silences Rams bats

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The one and done nature of tournament play is exactly what makes it so exciting. It is also what makes it so heartbreaking. Come up against the wrong opponent on the wrong day, and a season's worth of hard work can be gone before you know it.

That was certainly the case for the Shawsheen Tech Baseball last Saturday in the first round of the MIAA Division 3 Tournament when they took on Saugus.

The fifth seeded Rams brilliant regular season, which included a 13-5 record, the school's first outright CAC Large championship since 2008, and a trip to the state vocational championship game, meant very little when the No. 21 Sachems came to town with their 9-12 record which they earned playing a regular season schedule filled with Division 1 and 2 opponents.

Just as they had shown in their preliminary round victory over East Boston, Saugus proved that their won-loss record was not nearly indicative of just what kind of team they are, sending the Rams to a 7-1 defeat, ending Shawsheen's season with a 14-7 overall record.

"Saugus was a very good team, their record is no indication of their team's ability. We knew that going into the game," Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy said. "Saugus is a battle-tested team. They play a very tough schedule in the NEC against teams like Gloucester, Peabody and Lynn Classical.

"The 21st seed did not fool us; we knew they were going to be a tough team. They deserve all the credit that day. They played solid ball and came out on top with the win."

Much of the credit for the Saugus win has to go to junior lefty Kyle Autilio, who limited the Rams usually powerful offense to just four hits on the day, with their lone run coming on a solo home run by senior leftfielder Ryan Barnard in the fifth inning.

McCarthy and the Rams coaching staff had done their research and scouring on Autilio heading into the game, and he turned out to be everything they had expected.

"He was as good as advertised. He kept our hitters off-balance all day. He had all three pitches working for him and his defense played solid behind him," McCarthy said. "That's how good teams get it done. Our offense carried us to a lot of wins this season, but our bats were shut down that day."

Saturday was clearly not a good day for the Rams, but there were plenty of good days for the Rams on their way to the tournament, including a win in the first round of the vocational tournament over Worcester Tech before losing in the championship game to Blackstone Valley earlier last week.

"The MIAA tournament is the ultimate goal, so it's tough to see that slip away in the first round, but when everything is said and done, it is nice to reflect on the season we had," McCarthy said. "We were very proud to capture the CAC League title outright. And for players on last year's team, winning the league two years in a row is special too. Making it to the vocational tournament was another great accomplishment, and then winning our first round game and getting into the finals was also special."

A big part of the Rams success this season of course, was the play of their five seniors, Ryan Barnard, Anthony Bova, Ryan Collins, Dan Daniliuk-Poirier and CAC MVP, catcher Tim Lavoie. McCarthy knows they will be sorely missed for their ability as well as their leadership.

"They will all be missed and they all contributed valuably to this year's team and success," McCarthy said. "However, Tim is a real special player. He was a three year starter and a three year league all-star. Tim's bat and glove will certainly be missed, however, it is his leadership and character, his toughness and grit that made him such a special player. He was exactly what a Shawsheen Baseball player should be."

While it will be hard to say goodbye to those seniors, the future is actually very bright for the Rams, who will bring back several players who were key contributors from this year's squad, including their top two pitchers, junior Dan McCrehan and Alex Tate, both of Tewksbury, junior second baseman Brendan O'Flaherty of Wilmington, junior relief pitcher Liam Dawson and sophomore outfielder Craig Rich, among others.

"There is a good core coming back, a lot of which carry with them valuable playing time and experience. Tate, McCrehan, and Dawson were our most productive pitchers," McCarthy said. "O'Flaherty and (Andy) Diranian have been starting infielders for the last two years, and they are back for one more."

"And then to have a great centerfielder in Craig Rich back for two more is a great feeling. Plus, there are a variety of other guys coming back too and hope to step into prominent roles."

The CAC All-Stars were recently announced, and the Rams were very well represented, starting with MVP Lavoie. Other All-Stars were O'Flaherty, Rich, Tate and Dawson.

Tigers eat up Rams in first round of lacrosse tourney

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

After missing out on the state tournament last season, the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team was determined not to let it happen again. Determined or not, however, early in the season when the Lady Rams were struggling with a 1-3 record, you had to wonder if they would be able to turn it around and qualify for the post season.

The Lady Rams of course, did qualify, finishing 7-7-1 in the regular season to secure a spot in the Division 2 North Tournament as the No. 11 seed, setting up a match-up with No. 6 Ipswich in a first round game last Wednesday on the road.

And while the tournament game did not go the way the Lady Rams or coach Maggie Joyce would have liked, as Shawsheen suffered a 16-7 loss, Joyce was still pleased with the way her team competed against the powerful Tigers, who went on to win their quarterfinal game against No. 3 Bishop Fenwick after getting past Shawsheen.

"Ipswich is a strong team. I expected that going into the game, but I was happy with my team that we made it as far as we did," Joyce said. "The girls played well, especially in the second half, holding Ipswich to just three goals."

Shawsheen did get several outstanding performances on the day, led by junior midfielder Michelle Farragher of Tewksbury, who had four goals. Seniors Meg Ferguson and Malorie Kiehl added one goal each for Shawsheen, as did junior Kim Hayes.

Senior goalie Kerin O'Hearn made ten saves in net for Shawsheen, while senior Jackie Farragher and junior Nicole Kopacz, both of Tewksbury, played strong defense.

Considering where her team started this season, it was hard for Joyce to be too disappointed with the way it ended. This was a team that truly seemed to get better each time they took the field, culminating in their regular season with a much needed tie against Methuen, which allowed them to qualify for post season play.

"This season was unlike any other, simply because of the weather, the rescheduling, and the late start,"

Joyce said. "So I was proud of the girls for making into the tournament. We played some strong teams this season and they were able to play up to their level. Many girls gained confidence as the season progressed. We do a lot of mental preparation and it helps tremendously when it comes to game time."

Another thing that helped the Lady Rams was the play and leadership of their six seniors, each of whom made key contributions to the team's success. Defender and captain Malorie Kiehl, along with Tewksbury residents Alex Bagrowski, Jackie Farragher and Skyr Jacques in addition to Meg Ferguson and goalie Kerin O'Hearn will all be missed next season.

"This was a special group of seniors," Joyce said. "I've seen them all grow since freshman year and they've shown extreme improvement."

The Lady Rams, however, will bring back a talented group next season, led by such players as juniors Nicole Kopacz and Michelle Farragher of Tewksbury, along with Kim Hayes, sophomore Annie Riddle and freshman Catherine McKenna of Tewksbury, among many others who gained valuable experience this season.

"I was very happy with our younger girls this season. One in particular was Annie Riddle, who had never played before this season and became a force for us," Joyce said. "Catherine McKenna started almost every game for us, and continued to improve throughout the season."

TRACK

Last Wednesday, several members of the Shawsheen Tech Track team competed at the Class C Eastern Mass Meet held at Durfee High School.

On the girls side, Holly DeCoursey finished 9th in the triple jump (33-10.75) and 27th in the long jump (13-09.75), while Molly Harrington was 24th in the shot put (28-00), Devynn Fleming was 32nd in the shot put (25-05) and Janina Kennedy was 33rd in the 100-meter hurdles (19.0).

On the Boys side, Nick Gird was 28th in the 100 (12.01) and the 4x400 relay team finished 21st at 3:40.73.

Openings still left for Shawsheen Tech Football Clinic

The Shawsheen Tech football coaching staff will be holding their 2015 Youth Football Skills Clinic on July 20-23 from 4:30-7:30 pm at the Shawsheen Tech Football Complex at 100 Cook Street in Billerica.

The clinic will be headed by Shawsheen head football coach and Athletic Director Al Costabile, who brings 23 years of head coaching experience to the camp, including leading the Rams to the 2010 MIAA Division 4 Super Bowl championship.

Costabile will be joined by a Rams coaching staff that combines for over 100 years of coaching experience including Mark Donovan, Ray Morneau, Doug Pratt, Jason Tildsley, Joe Gore, and Joel Mignault.

There will also be guest speakers and coaches on a nightly basis, some of which are college coaches. Lectures given by both the guest speakers and the Rams coaching staff will provide a great message stressing and encouraging proper values pertaining to football, other sports, school and life in general.

These coaches are highly trained, dedicated professionals who teach and coach the game of football as well as anyone. They will teach the game of football the proper and safe way while having fun. If you're looking for great coaching the Rams football clinic is what you want.

Each participant needs his or her own shoes or sneakers and mouthpiece. This is a non-tackle clinic. The equipment needed is strictly for safety measures. The clinic meets every evening regardless of weather. Indoor facilities will be available if needed.

The cost for the clinic is $100.00 per participant which is non-refundable. Additional family members can attend for $75.

For more information or to sign up for the camp contact Al Costabile by phone at 978-671-3632 or 617-489-4809, or via e-mail at acostabile@shawsheen.tec.ma.us

Youth Soccer highlights

Alexander D'Anna, Dennis Desouza, Jonathan Mason, Kevin Pruslin, Isaac Tavares, Luke, Logan Zimmer and Jake Cronin resulting in goal opportunities by Alexander D'Anna, Isaac Tavares, Dennis Desouza, Luke and Logan Zimmer.

The midfield and defensive play of Jonathan Mason and Kevin Pruslin kept the N.Y. Red Bulls in excellent shape. The crowd roared to their feet when Alexander D'Anna, Isaac Tavares, Dennis Desouza, Luke and Logan Zimmer made some spectacular saves.

Colorado Rapids vs. Seattle Sounders

The Colorado Rapids would not back down from this back and forth match. Goals by Guy Jackson and Dylan Grace brought the crowd to a frenzy. A spectacular display of defensive skills was shown by Ethan Afthim and Quinn Stockman. In addition, the midfield play of Cameron Thompson and Roman Synott kept constant pressure on the opponent's net.

Girls Grade 2

Chicago Red Stars vs. Portland Thorns

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the Red Stars started off strong with great offensive pressure from Madeline Long and Rebecca Hughes coupled with the steel like defense of Kyra Turner and Madison Fenton and made for an incredible game.

Addyson Hunt and Allesandra Delgenio scored for the Red Stars while the outstanding efforts of Delaney Ward were solid in the net to keep their team alive. Great passing and ball-handling skills were displayed by the Red Stars during this match.

Boston Breakers vs. Houston Dash

Proving they were also World Cup Competitors

Callie McCauley scored several goals for the Boston Breakers.

Kimberly Kane, Alexandra Quick, and Vivien Savoie added the offensive punch and Gabriella Fitzgibbons and Sydney Macpherson held up the defense. It was an outstanding team effort capped off with great goal keeping by Celia Vindice

The Houston Dash had aggressive offensive attacks led by Kiley Bloom, Skylar Driscoll, Isabella Hart and Alexandra Malley that got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Great defensive effort by Arianna Cook, Raina Raposa and Molly Lydon of the Houston Dash protected goalie Natalie Moretti who made some spectacular saves.

Boys Grade 2

NE Revs vs. DC United

An electrifying atmosphere for the much anticipated rematch between the NE Revolution and DC United.

The Revs super forwards of Oliver Ferrer, Tommy Lewis, and Justin Gambale kept pressuring DC time and time again.

The iron tough defense of Kaleb Molina and Patrick Maillet kept pushing off all attacks while the net minding superb skills of Tyler Marinho and Corey Taylor made for an unforgettable encounter.

Shawsheen Tech Boys Hoop Clinic

The Shawsheen Tech Boys Basketball Team will be hosting their second Annual Youth Basketball Clinic from July 27th to 30th for boys entering fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grade in the fall of 2015. The clinic runs from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 pm for boys entering fourth, fifth and sixth grade and from 1:00 pm to 5:00 pm for boys entering seventh, eighth and ninth grade.

The clinic will feature skill development and instruction from high school coaches, games, competitions, guest speakers and use of the Shawsheen's Olympic size swimming pool.

Guest speakers include Jeff Nelson, Advanced Scout for the Utah Jazz and Tom Glynn, Head Men's Basketball Coach at Nichols College.

The cost of the camp is $125.00 for each player which is non-refundable. The cost of the camp includes a T-shirt for each player.

Anyone interested should contact coach Greg Bendel at gben-del@shawstech.org or visit the Shawsheen website at <http://www.shawsheentech.org/athletics/summerclinic.html>

Local World War II veteran honored by French government

Reading native and Wilmington resident

By RYAN LAROCHE

Wilmington resident and Reading native Frank Walsh turns 91 years old next month. The World War II veteran was recently inducted into the The Legion of Honor, established in 1802 by Napoleon Bonaparte, the honor is exclusively awarded in cases of exemplary military and civilian services.

It is the oldest and highest honor in France. It was awarded to Walsh by the decree of French President Francois Hollande.

Walsh served in the U.S. Military as a Private 1st Class in the 774th Field Artillery Battalion. He fought in the Battle of the Bulge and in the Liberation of Paris. It was the Battle of the Bulge that saw the most U.S. casualties during World War II. Thankfully, Walsh survived and made it home where he would, several years later, meet his wife and begin his journey working for NASA.

To commemorate Walsh's time in the army, and all he did for the people of France during the Liberation of Paris, the Consulate General of France Fabien Fieschi awarded the Reading native with a medal inducting him into The Legion of Honor this past Friday. Not bad for a kid who grew up in Roxbury, graduated from Northeastern and eventually settled in Reading.

While presenting him with the medal, the Consulate

General of France said, "Last month, we commemorated (freedom, democracy and independence) with the 70th anniversary of V-E Day on May 8. Today, I am honored to keep the memory of that historic victory alive by decorating one of New England's distinguished veterans, Mr. Francis Walsh, for his outstanding contributions to the liberation of my country, France."

He continued: "Mr. Walsh's service reminds us of the decisive role played by the Americans in World War II. It is thanks to their commitment, along with the Free French Forces and the other Allies' restless efforts that Europeans managed to escape a brutal rule and are able today to enjoy democracy and freedom."

"It is our duty to honor those such as Mr. Walsh who participated in freeing France and Europe. We are grateful to you for your heroic actions. In spite of constant exposure to danger, you and your fellow soldiers showed extraordinary courage throughout your service in France. You demonstrated a spirit of honorable sacrifice in keeping with the proud tradition of military service."

Born in 1924, Walsh wasted little time leaving high school (Our Lady of Perpetual High School in Mission Hill in 1942) behind by joining the army at 19. He served from Oct. 20, 1943 until March 20, 1946 when he was honorably discharged.

He fought in one of the more successful battles for the U.S. when he helped to liberate Paris from under German control. Unfortunately, the Battle of the Bulge was less successful, as the surprise attack by the Germans cost many American lives.

Movie Reviews

"Love and Mercy"

by Paul Feely

"LOVE AND MERCY" BOUNCES BACK AND FORTH BETWEEN two distinct eras in Brian Wilson's life. Paul Dano steals the show because the effort was made to make him resemble Brian Wilson during the heyday of the Beach Boys.

"LOVE AND MERCY"

"Love & Mercy" is not your standard bio-pic. One of the biggest reasons is its subject, Beach Boy legend Brian Wilson, an unconventional artist with a stranger-than-fiction life to watch play out on screen.

"Love & Mercy" does not follow the typical narrative format of following an individual's struggle to achieve fame and fortune, instead winding up hooked on drugs and depressed. The film bounces back and forth between two distinct eras in Wilson's life.

First is the turning point in the 1960s when he stopped touring with his band and devoted himself to more elaborate, Phil Spector-like productions and poignant songwriting for what would become the album "Pet Sounds."

Second, the film jumps ahead to the 1980s, when Wilson was under the control of psychotherapist Dr. Eugene Landy (Paul Giamatti). Landy had Wilson on a host of medications, controlled his diet, his schedule, his friendships and cut him off from contact with his family.

Despite jumping back and forth, it makes for an interesting and intimate portrait of Wilson. The most interesting choice made by director Bill Pohlad was to have Wilson portrayed by two different actors: Paul Dano as '60s Wilson, and John Cusack as '80s Wilson. The choice is a little unsettling at first. Both are terrific actors, and both are tuned into Wilson's odd personality that both serves his musical genius and makes him distant and difficult to connect with.

Dano steals the show because the effort was made to make him resemble Wilson during the heyday of the Beach Boys. Plus it's a treat for fans of the band to ride along during the studio sessions for "Pet Sounds," or hear him work out gems like "God Only Knows" on the piano.

No effort was expended, however, to make Cusack resemble Wilson, although he has the vulnerable vacant gaze down. A physical transformation is not necessary for every biopic, but it does beg the question: Why didn't the filmmakers bother to make the actor more Wilson-like?

Even with that speed bump, "Love & Mercy" (the title is derived from one of Wilson's solo songs) is an engrossing and entertaining film peppered with great songs and beautiful harmonies.

We see snippets of the early days of the Beach Boys when they first burst on the scene chirping about the wonders of cars, girls, surfing and the California sun. We see the conflicts between Wilson and his contrarian cousin Mike Love (Jake Abel), who have seemingly been at odds forever, but still managed to collaborate on such classics as "Good Vibrations" and many other Beach Boy hits.

Wilson struggled with depression and drug addiction. His psychological issues run deep, and they began with his abusive father, Murry (Bill Camp). His salvation from Dr. Landy's clutches arrives in the form of Melinda Ledbetter (Elizabeth Banks).

She met Wilson when he walked into her Los Angeles car dealership to buy a Cadillac. Banks' performance is one of the best things about "Love & Mercy." She is neither a groupie or a diva. Ledbetter is a steady presence that helps keep Wilson grounded.

And for all of the serious psychological issues it portrays, "Love & Mercy" does not take itself too seriously. "Did you really spend two years in bed?" Ledbetter asks, referencing one of the more famous aspects of the Wilson Mythology. "No, more like three," he quips.

Many of the folks portrayed in the film are still alive, but the real Brian Wilson survived it all. At age 72, he starts a new summer tour on June 18.

"SAN ANDREAS"

Millions of people die in the disaster movie San Andreas. But a determined

Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson is focused on saving his onscreen family, proving once again that family comes first in disaster films.

Johnson gives us a good reason to watch director Brad Peyton's earthquake thriller. He has evolved into a bonafide action hero who makes audience members feel safe in the middle of chaos.

In San Andreas, the crisis is a double whammy of two gigantic earthquakes. They shake up California along the San Andreas Fault. Los Angeles, where Johnson's estranged movie wife (Carla Gugino) lives, is destroyed in the first wave. Cue the rescue attempt by helicopter, because Johnson plays a first responder copter pilot. San Francisco, where Johnson and Gugino's daughter (Alexandra Daddario) happens to be with her mom's new boyfriend (Ioan Gruffudd), is going to get it in the second wave. A tsunami will add to the carnage generated by the earthquakes and their aftershocks.

The absurdity of San Andreas is that Johnson, his family members and two British friends that Daddario encounters in Frisco repeatedly escape death by split seconds, by millimetres, by a single last breath underwater, by sheer happenstance and by Johnson's bravery. He gets to defy logic, laws of gravity and physics to outwit, outrun, and outfly whatever comes his way.

The weird thing about it is how enjoyable it is to watch as millions of Californians are wiped out in the aftermath of the multiple disasters that earthquakes cause.

The special effects are powerful, expensive and relentless. Director Peyton has a rapport with Johnson and the other leads, while working equally well with support players such as Paul Giamatti (as the seismologist), Archie Panjabi, Hugo Johnstone-Burt and child actor Art Parkinson.

San Andreas does exactly what it set out to do: Satisfy thrill-seekers with a big-budget disaster popcorn movie. If you want a serious film about earthquakes, you are watching the wrong movie.

106th commencement

Area students graduate from St. John's Prep

St. John's Preparatory School held its 105th Commencement exercises on Sunday, May 17 at 11 am. Headmaster Edward P. Hardiman, Ph.D. awarded diplomas to 265 seniors during an outdoor ceremony held on the school's campus.

Dr. Hardiman congratulated the graduates for their achievements - in the classroom, on the playing field, in school activities, and in the wider community. He urged them to bring the lessons learned at St. John's to their future endeavors. "Wherever you go and whatever you do, heed the call of servant leadership. You have shared your gifts and talents with our school community. Now, let the Xaverian values of compassion, humility, simplicity, trust and zeal inspire you with faith and courage to make a difference in the lives of others."

GROWING CONCERNS (BURLINGTON)

"In an effort to keep the lines of communication clear, the School Committee recently passed a policy that calls for any work proposed for the Community Garden has to be formally submitted to the administration who will decide whether it needs to be brought in front of the committee for further analysis and approval," notes the Burlington edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"This stemmed from an incident that took place at the Community Garden, which is located in the fields behind the Francis Wyman Elementary School, when neighbors confronted a contractor who was rightfully going to remove a couple trees from the garden. The tree removal contractor ended up leaving because he did not want to get stuck in the middle of a verbal sparring match, which resulted in police having to come."

"The Burlington Science Center and Recreation

Department constructed the Community Garden in 2013 as an agricultural center to benefit the children and community of Burlington. The site, which was previously approved by the School Committee, stands as a 3-acre plot behind the Francis Wyman Elementary School and the fields adjacent to Laurel Lane. As envisioned, the Community Garden's natural resources have been used to support needy families, in addition to utilizing it as an education center and training garden. It is volunteer operated.

"The Burlington Area Chamber of Commerce (BACC) is a 'major sponsor' of the garden and has really gotten behind the section where the food is donated to People Helping People, the town's food pantry..."

"...The School Committee approved a fence by a 3-1 vote (Russo abstained and Chair Christine Monaco was absent)."

SUMMER TIMES (TEWKSBURY)

"EPA approved Saturday deliveries to the Sutton Brook Superfund site, formerly Rocco's dump, on South Street during the summer," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"As discussed..., construction activities are going full speed with lots of progress being made."

"Going forward, the Site will be active and regular deliveries of materials, supplies or equipment will continue. Large volume soil deliveries have been ongoing and are expected to continue through the fall of 2015."

"Landfill capping has been ongoing Monday-Saturday each week. After consideration, including consultation with the Town of Tewksbury, the project will initiate Saturday soil deliveries between the hours of 9am and 3pm starting on Saturday June 6. This step is being taken to keep up with the supply needs of the project and to complete landfill capping as rapidly as possible, says project manager Don McElroy in a press statement about the initiative."

"Weekday deliveries will continue as they have on a full day basis."

"Progress updates will be posted at the following web-sites: Sutton Brook Superfund site web page: <http://www.epa.gov/region1/superfund/sites/sutton-brook> Town of Tewksbury web site: tewksbury-ma.gov Tewksbury Town Crier: homenewshere.com/tewksbury-town-crier/ For more information, contact: Sarah White, 617-918-1026, EPA Community Involvement Coordinator white.sarah@epa.gov or Don McElroy, EPA Project Manager 617-918-1326, mcelroy.don@epa.gov."

ARTISAN CENTRAL (WINCHESTER)

"The Boston Public Market announced 12 additional small businesses, including Soluna Garden Farm and Mamadou's Artisan Bakery in Winchester, that will sell locally-produced goods in the new permanent, year-round market on the Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Greenway directly above the Haymarket MBTA station," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Starting in July, the 28,000-square-foot Market will house over 35 farmers, fishermen, and food producers from Massachusetts and throughout New England, selling items such as farm fresh produce; meat and poultry; milk and cheese; fish and shellfish; bread and baked goods; flowers; and an assortment of specialty and prepared foods..."

"The Boston Public Market will be the only locally-sourced market of its kind in the United States. Everything sold at the Market will be produced or originate in New England. Boston Public Market vendors are proud to accept SNAP/EBT for all eligible market products..."

"The Market is located in downtown Boston's emerging Market District, next to the Haymarket pushcart vendors and the historic Blackstone Block..."

"...information about all vendors can be found at www.bostonpublicmarket.org/vendors."

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY

TRIVIA: When did quarterback Tom Brady throw his first regular season touchdown pass?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•Five UMass Lowell student-athletes have been honored with the America East Presidential Scholar-Athlete Award.

Aaron Martin (Nashua, N.H.), Ross Mungeaum (Douglas, Mass.) and David Perloff (Burlington, Mass.) all of men's track and field, Ariana Darcy (Kingston, N.Y.) of the softball team, and field hockey's Andrea Byrne (Tyngsborough, Mass.) were this year's recipients.

The award recognizes graduating student-athletes with a cumulative GPA of 3.75 or higher, while attending their institution for at least two years.

Martin earned a 3.90 GPA and was named the winner of the University Scholar Athlete Award as UMass Lowell's top scholar athlete. Mungeaum and Perloff accumulated GPAs of 3.84 and 3.79, respectively. Darcy and Byrne each attained cumulative GPAs of 3.83.

The Presidential Scholar-Athlete Award was approved by the America East Board of Presidents in June of 2013, and implemented for 2013-14 academic year. In addition to the 41 honorees, five student-athletes who graduated in December were also given the award. Overall 94 student-athletes have been honored as part of the program.

•R.J. Warnock of North Reading, a sophomore 2B/SS with the University of Rhode Island, is member of the Nashua Silver Knights this summer.

The Silver Knights are a summer baseball team competing in the Futures Collegiate Baseball League (FCBL). The team's 30 player roster consists primarily of New England athletes currently playing collegiate baseball, at the Division 1, 2 or 3 levels, with local community ties.

These players will be under the watchful eye of professional baseball scouts with the hope of being selected in Major League Baseball's amateur draft.

The FCBL is comprised of teams located in Nashua (Silver Knights), Martha's Vineyard (Sharks), MA; Torrington (Titans), CT; the Seacoast (Mavericks), NH; North Shore (Navigators), MA; Brockton (Rox), MA; Pittsfield (Suns), MA; Worcester (Bravehearts)

MA, Bristol (Blues) CT, and the Wachusett (Dirt Dawgs), MA.

The FCBL is already planning and negotiating with other locations for expansion in the 2016 season.

The Silver Knights are owned and operated by the Lowell Spinners Professional Baseball Club (Class A Affiliate of the Boston Red Sox).

•Need some help with the trivia question? A hometown hero was the starting quarterback for the opposing team.

•Connor Hellebuyck (Commerce, Mich./St. John's) made 26 saves, but the U.S. Men's National Team fell to Russia, 4-0, in semifinal action at the 2015 International Ice Hockey Federation Men's World Championship.

"The final score wound up 4-0, but it really felt like a 1-0 game," said Todd Richards, head coach of the 2015 U.S. Men's National Team. "I'm proud of our guys and the way they played. It was a heck of a hockey game between two very good teams. Unfortunately for us, we came out on the short end."

The U.S. nearly opened the scoring just 2:36 into the contest when Mark Arcobello (Milford, Conn./Arizona Coyotes) found Jimmy Vesey (North Reading, Mass./Harvard University) alone in front for a chance that was turned aside by Sergei Bobrovski. The duo created another scoring chance with 8:25 remaining when Arcobello again found Vesey in front for a shot that was deflected wide.

•On Saturday June 13, Burlington will be holding its annual Relay for Life Event. Relay for Life is a fundraising effort to support the American Cancer Society.

A group of Burlington eighth grade girls have formed a fundraising team for this event. This team was formed because each of these girls have had cancer "touch" their lives in some way. Walsh

From S-1

Combat to take back control of Paris lasted a week in August of 1944. Paris had been under German rule since 1940 when Nazis forces occupied northern and western France.

The liberation began when the French Resistance staged an uprising against the Germans upon the arrival of the US Third Army led by Gen. George Patton. By late August, troops from the 2nd French Armoured Division led by Captain Raymond Dronne, made their way into the Paris hotel Hotel de Ville. With the help of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, they entered the city, eventually forcing Dietrich von Choltitz, commander of the German garrison and the military governor of Paris, to surrender.

Following the raid, Gen. Charles de Gaulle arrived to assume control of the city as head of the Provisional Government to the French Republic.

Ironically, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces, didn't think liberating Paris was a primary objective. He heard that Hitler had ordered the Germans to destroy Paris should the Allies attack. He felt that Paris was too significant, culturally and historically, to risk its destruction.

Another strike against liberating Paris involved the amount of food, building materials, manpower, and engineering skills it would take, assuming the liberation was successful. Basic utilities would have to be restored and transportation systems rebuilt.

But the French pressed on, and with the aid of U.S. troops, liberated the city, even as Hitler reportedly ordered that the capital "must not fall into the enemy's hand except lying in complete debris." That never happened as von Choltitz surrendered, either of his own accord (meaning he disobeyed Hitler's commands) or under pressure from the French and American forces. Germans believe he saved Paris from destruction, while the French believe he was a Nazi faithful to Hitler.

Battle of the Bulge

After losing Paris, and toward the end of WWII, the Germans staged a last, major offensive attack on the Allied Forces. From December of 1944 until January of 1945 the Nazis marched through the densely forested Ardennes region of Wallonia in Belgium, France and Luxembourg on the Western Front.

For Walsh and his unit, according to usacac.army.mil/cac2/cgsc/carl/nafziger/944ulaa.pdf, they arrived from the north on Dec. 27, 1944.

The battle cost many American lives, but it also took the lives of many Germany soldiers, ones they weren't able to replace.

Germans planned the attack in secret, minimizing radio traffic and moving troops and equipment under the cover of darkness. Even still, the Third U.S. Army's intelligence staff intercepted communications; however, they couldn't deduce a time or point of attack.

But thanks to the Allies' overconfidence, plus their preoccupation with their own offensive plans, the Germans still managed near-complete surprise. The attack included 200,000 men, 340 tanks and 280 other tracked vehicles. Nearly half of the men in battle on the German side were either killed, wounded or missing. For the U.S., 19,000 troops died with 70,000 injured. It was the largest and bloodiest battle fought by the U.S. during WWII.

774th Field Artillery Battalion

According to royalartilleryunitsnetherlands1944-1945.com, Walsh's battalion was attached to the 7th Armoured Division during the time that the 7th Armoured Division was in combat in the Netherlands, from Sept. 30, 1944 - Nov. 21, 1944. The first month of combat was October of 1944.

The unit has 24 members, according to unitpages.military.com, with most serving from 1943-1946.

Walsh's unit also appeared to join up with the 83rd Infantry Division under the direction of Major General Robert C. Mason, according to information found on wikipedia.org. The 83rd division became active on Aug. 15, 1942 in Indiana. They went overseas in April of 1944. They fought in Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace, and Central Europe for a total of 244 days of combat. They returned to the U.S. on March 26, 1946 and were deactivated two weeks later.

Coming home

When Walsh returned home to Massachusetts, he enrolled at Northeastern University, where he later graduated in 1954 with a BBA (Bachelor of Business Administration). He also married his wife, Clara Judkins, on Aug. 27, 1949. Together they had four children: James, now living in Maine, David, now living in Reading, Janet, now living in Florida, and Laura, now living in Maryland.

Before graduating college, Walsh wound up at Hanscom Air Force Base in Lexington for three years as a Chief Administrative Services Manager. After that, he spent the rest of his career working for NASA - first in Cambridge, then in Washington, D.C. - as a budget analyst.

Today, Walsh spends his golden years at Windsor Place, an assisted living facility in Wilmington. According to his son David, Walsh likes it there. He said his father enjoys the many events and speakers, plus the trips they often take.

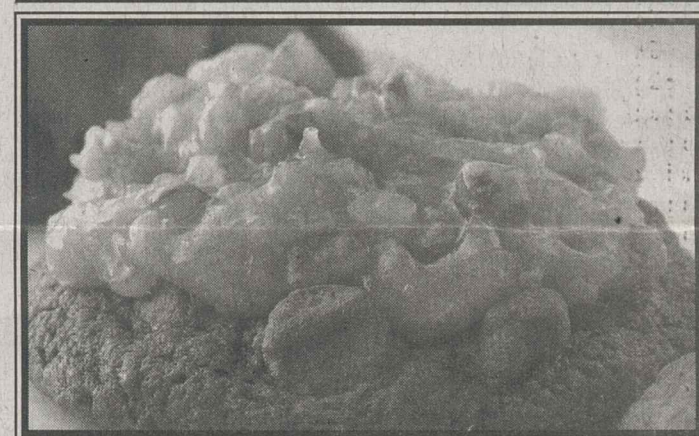

As for his years of service, David said his father never really talked about the war. But he knew his father was proud of his service. In fact, he served his country so well, Walsh has been honored with several medals and awards over the years including a Good Conduct Medal, American Theatre Campaign Medal, the WWII Victory Medal, and, most recently, a medal inducting him to The Legion of Honor for his work in helping to liberate the City of Paris.

HomeNewsHere RECIPE

German Chocolate Chiparoos

Mouth watering chocolate cookie made using Betty Crocker® chocolate chip cookie mix.

1) Heat oven to 375°F. In medium bowl, stir together butter and egg. Stir in cookie mix, cocoa and water until soft dough forms.

2) Onto ungreased cookie sheet, drop dough by rounded tablespoonfuls about 2 inches apart.

3) Bake 7 to 9 minutes or until cookies are set. Cool 1 minute; remove from cookie sheet to cooling rack. Cool completely, about 15 minutes.

4) Generously frost cookies with coconut pecan frosting.

Expert Tips
• Expert Tips- To help with mixing the softened butter and egg, try cutting the butter into small pieces.

• Using a small ice-cream scoop, especially one with a spring release, is an easy way to portion the dough onto the cookie sheet.

Free public programs in June at Parker River National Wildlife Refuge

Including plovers, kayaks, and bikes

Parker River National Wildlife Refuge will be offering the following free public programs during the month of June. Some programs will be offered at the nearby Great Bay National Wildlife Refuge (Newington, NH). Please note that many of the refuge programs require preregistration. Registrations are not confirmed until the registrant receives a phone call from a member of the refuge staff. Anyone having a question about a refuge program is asked to contact the refuge at (978) 465-5753.

Plover Lovers Program Friday, June 12th @ 10:00 am

Want to learn more about Plum Island's federally threatened bird species? Join Sandy Point's park interpreter and the refuge's plover biologist as they take you on an excursion to see the newly hatched piping plover chicks! This program is open to all age groups - kids too! Binoculars and/or a camera are recommended to get the most out of your experience. This program will last approximately one hour. Meet at the farther parking lot at Sandy Point. Parking at Sandy Point is very limited. Arriving early is strongly recommended for access to the program. Program limited to 15 people. Preregistration is required. To preregister, please call the Taylor Beaton at (617) 372-6730.

The Photographic Society of Parker River National Wildlife Refuge

Next Meeting: Saturday, June 13th @ 1:30 pm

Skip Hoyt, MNEC and Brenda Driscoll will regale you with a program about their epic photographic adventures in Alaska. Their presentation will be followed by a question and answer session. Skip and Brenda are both very active with the Greater Lynn Photographic Society. We will also project June's Show & Share slide show, featuring photo club members' very fine images of spring flowers, on the auditorium's big screen. We may have a few other surprises in store, as well.

Photographic Society welcomes anyone who has an interest in nature, wildlife, and/or photography - whether you are a total novice or earn a living by taking pictures! The club meets every month, generally on the second Saturday afternoon. Club activities include special presentations, slide shows (of members' work), intra-club mentoring and training, photo shoots, on-line photo sharing, and involvement in the refuge's various photography-related programs, events, and outreach activities. Venue capacity is limited to 75 attendees (first-come, first-served). Admission to this program is free and preregistration is NOT required.

Exploring the Refuge by Kayak

Monday, June 15th @ 9:30 am AND Tuesday, June 30th @ 9:30 am

There is no better way to see and experience the refuge's salt marsh than from the cockpit of your own kayak! Join a couple of refuge rangers for a three hour meander through the marsh and learn about some of its fascinating natural and cultural history. Program participants should have kayaking experience and need to provide their own kayak, paddle, and personal flotation device. Participant boats must be a minimum of 12 feet in length and have onboard flotation. It is recommended that participants provide their own insect repellent, sunscreen, water, snack food, and wear clothing appropriate for the weather. Participants under the age of 18 must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. Meet the rangers at the refuge's boat ramp, opposite Lot 1, fifteen minutes prior to the program start time. Enrollment limited to 12 participants. Preregistration required.

NEW EVENT!: Let's Go Outside!

Saturday, June 20th, 10:00 am - 3:00 pm

Mark your calendars! This is a new, FREE and very cool event for the whole family. Spend all or part of a day outside at the refuge while trying out a whole bunch of fun, healthy activities including archery target shooting, kayaking, surf fishing, nature photography, and bird watching. There will also be a variety of nature-based crafts and activities for younger kids. While event "activity stations" will be located both at the visitor center and on the national wildlife refuge, we recommend that you begin your event experience at the visitor center. Complete all activity stations and earn a Junior Refuge Manager badge! Activity stations will run continuously throughout the day. Free shuttle buses will provide transportation to the different venues. This event will take place rain or shine. NO preregistration for this event.

Tide Pool Discoveries Tuesday, June 23rd @ 11:00 am

For generations children have enjoyed exploring tide pools and discovering the fascinating plants and animals that live in this realm between the tides. A refuge ranger will guide this hands-on program. Appropriate for children age 5

- 10. Each session is limited to 15 children. Each session is 90 minutes long, allowing time for travel to and from the beach. Meet the ranger at the visitor contact station at parking lot 1. Parent/guardian must remain with his/her child for the entire duration of this program. Preregistration is required for this program.

NEW! - Exploring Great Bay NWR by Bicycle Wednesday, June 24th, from 9:30 - Noon

Join a refuge ranger for a behind the scenes tour, by bicycle, of Great Bay National Wildlife Refuge, located in Newington, NH. Participants will have an opportunity to visit areas of the refuge that are not normally open to the public. See a diversity of habitats and learn how the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is managing this very special landscape for wildlife. Cyclists will travel over generally level terrain on a combination of paved and unpaved. The distance covered will depend on how many stops are made and how much time is spent at each stop. Tour duration will be about 2 hours. Appropriate for adults and children age 16 or older. Each participant must provide a either a hybrid or mountain bike, helmet, and water bottle. Insect repellent, sun block, binoculars and/or a camera are optional (provided these items can be safely stowed while biking). Meet the ranger in the Great Bay NWR parking lot 15 minutes before the tour start time. Limited to 10 participants. Preregistration required.

NEW! - Refuge Bicycle Tours Friday, June 26th @ 9:00 am

Experience the refuge from the unique perspective of your very own bicycle! Starting at the visitor contact station at Lot 1, the ranger-led group will gradually make its way south along the paved portion of the refuge's Wildlife Drive, stopping at various points along the way to view wildlife, hear stories of Plum Island's past, and learn about the inner workings of a national wildlife refuge. This is an "out and back" tour. The distance covered will depend on how many stops are made and how much time is spent at each stop. Tour duration will be about 2 hours. Appropriate for adults and children age 16 or older. Each participant must provide a bicycle, helmet, and water bottle. Meet the ranger on the deck of the visitor contact station. Participants may also wish to bring insect repellent, sun block, binoculars and/or a camera (if these items can be safely stowed while biking). Meet the ranger on the deck of the visitor contact station. Limited to 10 participants. Preregistration required.

Salem Jazz and Soul Festival continues monthly concert series

With the Marika Galea Quartet

The Salem Jazz and Soul Festival will continue its 2015 SJSF/Berklee Summer Series in Derby Square, Salem, on Saturday, June 13 with a concert featuring jazz bassist Marika Galea, and her quartet.

The free show will take place from 5 to 7 p.m. and will feature an educational interview about music and the Berklee experience.

Creative Salem will sponsor the performance. A rising star and bandleader, Marika Galea is a respected young jazz bassist and composer who has studied with and opened for a number of highly acclaimed artists including Bucky Pizzarelli, Branford Marsalis, Al Jarreau, and Teri Lyne Carrington. Originally from Cananda, Marika is carving out a reputation on this side of the border as a jazz bassist, journalist, and educator with longevity.

She is pleased to present her international quartet, including Yoav Eshed (Israel) on guitar, Tomoaki Baba (Japan) on saxophone, and Jongkuk Kim (South Korea) on drums. Marika's band members bring their respective talents to Derby Square as well. Yoav Eshed, guitar, has been studying music since he was a toddler and won the third place prize in the 2104 Montreux Jazz Festival in Switzerland. Tomoaki Baba, saxophones, began playing in a big band at age seven that ended up playing at the Sydney Opera House during a cultural exchange. Johgkuk Kim, drums, released his first solo album when studying at the Seoul Institute of the Arts at age 16. All members of the quartet are current Berklee College of Music students.

Two more SJSF/Berklee

Summer Series concerts will take place this year: Beneil Miller on July 11; and Chuks Okpu on Aug. 8. The ninth-annual Salem Jazz and Soul Festival will be held during the weekend of Aug. 15-16, featuring 10 bands, a kids' tent, music-education tent, artisan fair and 21+ beer pavilion. The two-day concert is free.

The festival is a nonprofit, volunteer-run organization that produces free concerts and raises money for music education causes on the North Shore.

Needham affiliates with Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage in Winchester

Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage in New England is pleased to announce that Woburn resident Meghan Haggerty Needham has affiliated with the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage office in Winchester. As a sales associate, Needham will provide residential real estate services in Winchester, Woburn, Stoneham, Reading, and Burlington as well as the surrounding communities.

Needham has become a real estate sales associate after many years of working in law firm and healthcare marketing. Her responsibilities included developing and marketing branding initiatives to increase the visibility and profitability of professional services firms. Earlier in her career, Needham worked in a recruiting capacity for Bain & Company.

"We are delighted that Meghan has decided to affiliate with Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage as she embarks on this new career path," said Cathleen Moore,

Sales Manager of the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage office in Winchester. "The knowledge and experience that Meghan brings with her will surely benefit her customers and clients."

As a member of the Woburn community, Needham is active as a coach for the Woburn Youth Soccer Association. Needham is also a Director of the Woburn Public Library Foundation and is currently helping to raise funds for the expansion and renovation of the library. "As a lifelong resident of Woburn, I am excited to embark on this new adventure in the community I grew up in and still call home today," said Needham. "My goal is to build trust, provide great service and add value to my clients."

Needham can be reached at the Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage office in Winchester at 781-729-7290.

Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage is the largest residential real estate brokerage company in New England. With more than 4,000 affiliated sales associates and staff in approximately 80 office locations, the organization serves consumers in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine. Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage is part of NRT LLC, the nation's largest residential real estate brokerage company. For more information please visit www.NewEnglandMoves.com.

round if your needs are simple.

Light washes into the cathedral-like, vaulted living room through huge windows, stacked three high. If you enjoy observing seasonal changes in total comfort, this is the right place to do it. If you like the open views of a Chalet house plan you will fall in love with the Sylvan.

A small dining room connects the living room and kitchen. The front door opens onto a wide deck, ideal for outdoor dining when the weather is inviting. The fully enclosed sun room at the rear of the kitchen could be outfitted as an eating area, or furnished as a place to relax, read or nap.

The upper level master suite is actually a loft. It's open at the front to the majestic view, while a side-facing dormer offers yet another vista. Amenities here include a large walk-in closet and a small private bathroom with two basins and a shower. Attic storage is accessible through openings on both sides.

Each of the Sylvan's secondary bedrooms has a closet. This A-Frame house plan has a bathroom is close by, along with a stacked washer and dryer unit, tucked in a hallway alcove.

Renovation From S-8

Living space?" If a homeowner doesn't know where they're going with the renovation, chances are they'll never get there.

2. Do your research. In most things, knowledge is power, and knowing what to expect, in advance, can keep expectations in check. Investigate options, budgets and timelines, and arrange financing in advance.

3. Hire professionals. Be sure that they are happy to work with you to meet your budget and achieve your vision. Communicate clearly and often to ensure understanding on both sides.

4. Opt for a general contractor and trades that are experienced, licensed and insured. Don't hesitate to check credentials and references. Get recommendations from family, friends and colleagues who have had work done and were satisfied with the results.

5. Start with quality building materials. When it comes to home renovation and construction, the adage, "it's what's on the inside that counts" seems apt. While homeowners tend to get caught up in the aesthetics of a project, such as finishings and paint colors, the key to a successful renovation often lies in what you won't see. Investing in quality behind your walls will ensure durability, comfort and safety for years to come.

6. Focus on the basics. This includes quality electrical, plumbing, HVAC, framing and drywall. Don't underestimate the importance of insulation — especially in a basement renovation. Not all insulation is created equal. Opt for insulation that is fire-resistant, sound absorbent and resistant to mold, mildew, bacterial growth, and rot. In my renovations, I like to use products like Roxul's Comfortbatt and Comfortboard IS to help achieve a more energy efficient home, buy you valuable time in the event of a fire and prevent moisture issues that can pose health risks and lead to costly repairs.

7. Develop a good plan. This includes preparing for the unexpected. Setting aside a 20 percent contingency fund will help bring you to the finish line when unanticipated issues creep up.

Lastly, the key to a successful renovation includes patience. Living in a construction zone — or alternately moving out while the work is done — can be stressful and trying.

Sylvan displays natural beauty

You'll hardly notice the Sylvan, nestled back in the woods. Unless, that is, the owners choose a bright color for its metal roof. Or rays of the setting sun are glinting off the V-shaped window bay. The warm, natural beauty of this home's log exterior blends right in with the surrounding landscape. It looks like it belongs there.

Log homes are noted for having impressive natural insulating qualities, longevity and ease of maintenance. But this is no rustic cabin. It's a three-bedroom, two-bathroom home you could actually live in year-

How to make your renovation successful & positive

In the United States, renovation spending has more than doubled since the late 1990s, reaching nearly $65 billion last year alone. Oftentimes the investment a homeowner makes is substantial, both financially and emotionally. The stakes are high. That's why it's imperative that the job is done well from start to finish. There are a number of steps a homeowner can take to ensure a positive experience and a successful outcome, including:

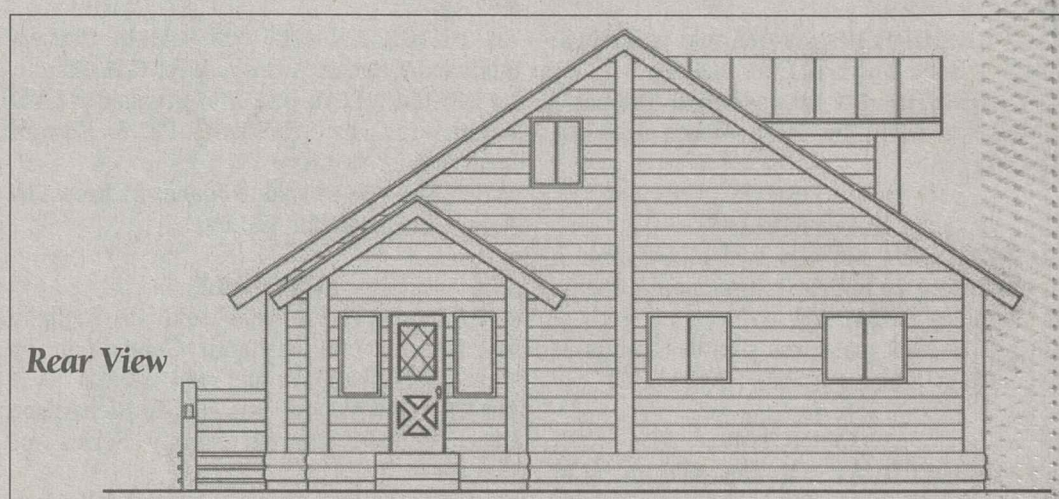

1. Know your goal. Ask the question, "What is this renovation designed to accomplish? More functionality? Storage?
